ALL THIS—AND COFFEE, TOO

Young Canadian's Piano Magic Fires 'Meet Symphony' Concert

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"Come along and have coffee," said the symphony—and the audience did, going up on stage of the Royal Theatre, several hundred strong Sunday afternoon, in many cases meeting conductor and instrumentalists face to face for the first time.

It was the second big experience of Victoria Symphony Orchestra's best attended Sunday concert; the first came when they heard an authentic Canadian genius, Glenn Gould, 23, make Beethoven live again.

The coffee and cakes party, held under the twinkling lights of a Christmas tree, gave a warmth and gaiety to the event that is new not only to Victoria, many of the concert-goers found it an experience only comparable to the best of European concert hall experience.

ASTOUNDING
But the really momentous thing—the subject to which the delighted conversation kept returning—was the astounding performance of an undoubted genius, the guest pianist.

It is seldom that one finds an artist living up to all that has been claimed for him in advance. In his performance of the Beethoven Concerto in E flat ("Emperor"), Gould was a revelation and the performance as a whole will probably stand out as the most exciting single musical experience of the entire season.

This was Beethoven recreated, rather than interpreted—a fine distinction which many musicians miss. The whole performance was one of amazing brilliance and poignant yet disciplined emotion.

Thought and intelligence are behind every note his fine, flexible fingers utter and his participation in the performance never slackens, as it does with many pianists, when his hands leave the keyboard.

Gould has been hailed as a genius in the performance of Bach. He has recently recorded

GLENN GOULD
... authentic genius

the "Goldberg" Variations for Columbia, the first Canadian to appear on that distinguished label.

The brief example of the latter he offered as an encore was enough to make any Bach enthusiast long to hear this immensely gifted pianist in a full recital of the composer's works.

On the orchestra's behalf it must be said that the performance was an exciting element in the close partnership; the long introduction, particularly, presenting a worthy prelude for what was to come.

A distinctive, vivid performance of Aaron Copland's kaleidoscopic "Apalachian Spring," with Malcolm Hamilton playing the piano part, and Brahms' "Tragic" Overture, completed the program.

At half-time, symphony conductor Hans Gruber presented a much-be-whiskered Santa, who brought the orchestra—and the audience—a gift. In fairness to tonight's audience, however, no more of that.

OTTAWA VISIT, ALSO

Ike Asks Eden To New Talks

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden and Foreign Secretary Macmillan will travel to the United States and Canada at the end of January for talks with government leaders in Washington and Ottawa, it was announced today.

A White House announcement said the British leaders will arrive in Washington Jan. 30 at the invitation of President Eisenhower. They will spend "a few days" there.

Eden told the Commons today he and Macmillan then will go to Ottawa for discussions with Canadian leaders.

"I should like also to inform the House that at the invitation of the Prime Minister of Canada, the foreign secretary and I will visit Ottawa at the end of our visit to Washington," Eden said.

Clement Attlee, Labor party leader, said:

"I am sure the House will welcome this announcement. I am sure I express the view of all of us when I say that we are so glad the president of the United States is so improved that he will be able to receive distinguished visitors from overseas."

RESUMING SOME DUTIES

President Eisenhower now is at his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., continuing his convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack while progressively taking up more of the burdens of his office.

The talks will presumably deal with Western strategy in the light of the recent failure of the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers' conference on such matters as German reunification, European security and disarmament. The leaders are also expected to discuss the implications of belligerent speeches made by Soviet leaders on their visit to India and Burma and the new economic squeeze by the Communists on West Berlin.

James Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower issued his invitation to Eden about a week ago. It was accepted toward the end of last week.

State Secretary Dulles will participate in talks with the British visitors. Dulles and Macmillan represented their countries at the Geneva conference.

NO SPECIFIC DETAILS

Hagerty declined to give specific details of the subjects to be considered by the leaders. He said only that they will encompass affairs of mutual interest to the two countries.

Eden's trip is seen here as part of the preparations he is making for talks with Soviet leaders—Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev—who are booked to visit Britain in the spring.

Eden's hope is that the Anglo-Soviet talks will provide an opportunity for some real private negotiations on some of the issues that were stalemated in the Geneva conference room.

Among them are Germany's future, disarmament matters, the Middle East situation and Asian affairs.

The British leader, his aides said, would not have wished to go into such widely-sweeping talks without first closely consulting with Eisenhower.

CHURCHILL HITS OUT AT KHRUSHCHEV TIRADE

WOODFORD, Eng. (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill suggested today that Britain might have second thoughts about its invitation to Russia's rulers to visit this country next April.

Speaking at a Conservative rally in his parliamentary riding—his first major political speech since he retired—last April—Churchill bluntly described anti-Western tirades by Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev in India and Burma as a "surprising spectacle."

The Eden government, he said, "will no doubt study carefully before they allow it, with suitable variants, to be repeated here."

Giant U.S. Interests Behind Huge Dam Plan

Continental Can Co. Principals Propose Fraser River Project

Giant U.S. interests have approached the B.C. government with a proposal to construct the world's largest dam on the salmon-rich Fraser River.

Moran Development Co., incorporated under B.C. laws on July 14 this year, proposed construction of a $500,000,000 hydro dam on the Fraser "about three months ago."

The company has engineers working out details of the project.

Moran Development is a private company and includes Hans Eggers of New York as a shareholder.

He heads Continental Can Corp., Contaliner Co., Continental Can Corp. of Havana, Cuba, and Continental Can of Canada. The Continental interests are the largest firm in the world engaged in the tin plate industry.

ANNOUNCED FRIDAY

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi made the first announcement of the proposal Friday, in a speech made before a handful of University of B.C. students.

He termed the proposed dam "the largest in the world—bigger than Hoover and Grand Coulee combined."

Vancouver newspapers heard of the speech, and asked Mr. Gagliardi for details.

New British Comet III To Land at Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP)—The transport department has granted the permission for the British Comet III jetliner, now on a record-smashing flight around the world, to fly across Canada.

Tentative plans call for the Comet to land at Vancouver en route back to Britain from Australia and also at Montreal.

Britain's new contender for commercial aviation honors made the 11,440-mile flight from Hatfield, England, to Sydney in just 24 hours, 23 minutes flying time.

Huge crowds broke through police barriers at Kingsford-Smith airport Sunday when the big plane put down. She left Hatfield Friday morning and stopped en route at Cairo, Bombay, Singapore and Darwin.

Propeller-driven British airliners normally make the flight in three days.

Earlier models of the Comet were taken out of service after several disastrous crashes. Group Capt. John Cunningham, chief test pilot for the de Havilland Co. and skipper of the plane, said the new plane's initial shortcomings "have been completely overcome."

They remained in the woods overnight and made their way back out, with aid of a compass, Sunday morning about 10.30 a.m.

Mother Saves Tots

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg widow, clad only in her underwear, carried her three children from their blazing home out into the sub-zero cold today. Mrs. Patricia Hall, about 40, was taken to hospital with severe burns. Her children are also in hospital.

They remained in the woods overnight and made their way back out, with aid of a compass, Sunday morning about 10.30 a.m.

Snowfall Hinders Search

An intensive search was under way in the Shawnigan Lake-Leechtown area today for two Victoria men lost during a hunting trip Sunday.

Heavy snow was hampering the searchers.

Missing since a party of five hunters split up Sunday morning are Frank Browne, 25, 1882 Feltham, and Craig Massey, 23.

RANGERS JOIN HUNT

RCMP, South Vancouver Island Rangers and other members of the party hunting with Browne and Massey, were combing the area at press time in an attempt to find some trace of the two men.

Mrs. Browne, a daughter of Donald Keirs of the provincial game department, was awaiting word of the search at her father's home.

The missing hunters were to meet three other members of their party at 2 p.m. Sunday, but failed to turn up.

Robert Lyons, 2626 Rose; Bill Reid, 242 Beechwood, and Charlie Keirs, 1498 Myrtle, waited until darkness for the pair before notifying RCMP and returning to Victoria.

Massey's father, Reid Lyons and Pete Bridge left Victoria at 6 a.m. today to aid in the search.

NIGHT IN WOODS

A third Victoria man lost in the same area overnight walked out of the bush near Shawnigan Lake this morning.

Hugh Graham, 57, 2548 Graham, was reported in good condition after his ordeal.

Mr. Graham, foreman on a George Wheaton Ltd. national defence construction job, went into the woods near Leechtown Sunday morning, accompanied by George Sproule and brothers Wes and Douglas Gullie.

He had been the object of a search since his three companions last reported seeing him about 4 p.m. Sunday.

TWO OTHERS SAFE

Two other Victoria hunters were forced to spend a night in the woods when overtaken by darkness as they hunted in the Sooke area Saturday.

Robert Wright, 2541 Garden, and Robert Evans, 2568 Thompson, were hunting in the Sooke area Saturday and darkness closed in before they could get back to their car.

They remained in the woods overnight and made their way back out, with aid of a compass, Sunday morning about 10.30 a.m.

SOMASS PROJECT IN DETAIL

Map illustrates preliminary plan of B.C. Power Commission engineers for harnessing Somass River watershed. Commission announced today it will undertake expensive detailed surveys on the project, which would involve: (1) Impounding dam on Elsie Lake, with stored water diverted through canal, tunnel, and penstock to powerhouse (2) on Great Central Lake. Dam at outlet of Great Central (3) would enable second diversion to powerhouse on Sproat Lake (4). Dam and powerhouse combined (5) and (6) at outlet of Sproat Lake would be final step. Sproat Lake plant (6) would house central controls for entire project. Power plants would have capacity of 20,000 kilowatts each.

... FRASER DAM

Gagardi for more details. He confirmed his statements, but declined to elaborate.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Lands Minister R. E. Sommers were not available for comment this morning.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said "that is not my department."

"I understand, however, that these people have been looking into it," said Mr. Bonner.

POTTER ON SURVEYS

It is understood Russell E. Potter, former member of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission and widely-known engineer, is engaged by Moran Development as a consulting engineer.

If Moran Development intends carrying out the project the biggest fish versus hydro power battle in the history of the Pacific Northwest is predicted.

Mr. Bonner was asked what the government's policy in regard to the Fraser would be. He said:

"We will have to be satisfied the fishery is adequately protected. What is required, is research to make sure both fish and hydro-power are possible."

FISHERIES PROTECTION

Fisheries experts said they expect the problems of getting spawning fish over dams, and fingerlings through the turbines, will be solved "in 10 years or so."

Mr. Bonner said he has information it will be "sooner than that—perhaps five years." The proposed damsite is believed located near Moran siding on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, about 20 miles above Lillooet. It is the major power site on the Fraser River, and engineers have acclaimed it as "a natural."

A dam at Moran with a crest elevation at 1,540 feet would rise 720 feet above water level to create a lake approximately 165 miles long, reaching to a point not far below the town of Quesnel.

Geologists' reports state the rock foundation is "excellent" for purposes of dam construction.

The dam would be higher than any other existing in the world.

It would provide the interior and lower mainland of B.C. with 1,638,000 firm horsepower.

Together with other storage and hydro-dams on the main stem of the Fraser, Moran and auxiliary dams could produce a fantastic total of 2,500,000 firm hydropower.

B.C. Electric engineers have been working on a survey of the Fraser river for federal government departments.

And B.C. Electric officials have firmly indicated their interest in the river as a power source.

Three Power Plants, Main Dams Seen for Somass River Proposal

B.C. Power Commission officials today outlined details of a proposed 60,000-kilowatt hydro project involving a network of dams and powerhouses on the Somass River watershed, northwest of Alberni.

The plan involves construction of three power plants, three main dams and several auxiliary dams, and was prepared on the basis of preliminary studies.

Power Commission now will undertake detailed surveys, which are required before a final decision can be reached.

Three lakes are involved—Elsie Lake, Great Central Lake and Sproat Lake.

A commission spokesman said the detailed surveys, which could cost up to $250,000, will take "several months, and perhaps up to a year."

Proposal calls for an impounding dam and an auxiliary wing dam at the outlet of Elsie Lake, to prevent the lake water from flowing down the Ash River.

20,000 KW Elsie Lake storage would flow through a system of tunnel, canal and steel penstock to a 20,000-kilowatt powerhouse on the north shore of Great Central Lake.

Another impounding dam would be constructed at the outlet of Great Central Lake, where it flows into the Stamp River. This proposed dam would raise Great Central between 20 and 30 feet.

Water stored in Great Central would be diverted to a powerhouse near the eastern end of Sproat Lake, where another 20,000 kilowatts would be generated.

The third stage calls for a dam-powerhouse combination at the Somass River outlet of Sproat Lake, utilizing to a large extent the water flowing down from Elsie and Great Central.

An engineer's report on the entire project said the normal fluctuation of Sproat Lake is about six feet. It said "it is assumed" that no more than six feet of storage on Sproat would be utilized.

HOUSES UNAFFECTED

A large number of permanent and summer homes have been constructed on the shoreline of Sproat Lake. Commission officials said there would be no interference with the landowners.

Transmission lines would run from the Great Central and the first Sproat Lake powerhouses to the Somass River plant, according to the preliminary plan. It would be the central plant, automatically controlling the entire project.

One of the major hurdles facing such a project is the fishery on the Somass, Stamp and Ash Rivers.

"We already are in contact with federal and provincial fish and game officials," said a commission spokesman.

He said the hydro proposal would necessitate sufficient water being allowed to flow down the Ash and Stamp Rivers to protect the fish.

"We are fully aware we cannot dry up the Stamp River," said the spokesman.

TWO YEARS

Power from the proposed development, which would cost up to $20,000,000, and take more than two years to construct, would hook into the commission's system at Alberni.

MacMillan and Bloedel officials Friday outlined before Sproat Lake residents a plan for construction of a low-level water storage dam on Sproat Lake.

The dam would provide some regulation on the lake to ensure fresh water supplies for multi-million dollar pulp mill expansions.

Powe Commission officials said that if they decide to go ahead with the Somass watershed development, the MacMillan and Bloedel dam would have to be ripped out, "unless we could utilize it."

Farmers Ask 2-Price System In Wheat Sales

Cash Advances Also Proposed

OTTAWA (CP)—A two-price system for the sale of Canadian wheat was officially proposed by the Inter-provincial Farm Union Council in a brief to the federal-provincial agricultural conference which opened here today.

The council, which claims to represent more than 100,000 farmers and their families, also urged that the Canadian wheat board give farmers a cash advance of up to 70 cents a bushel on farm-held grain.

It proposed that Canadians pay at least $2.05 a bushel or more for wheat, while foreign buyers pay a minimum of $1.55 with federal subsidies making up any loss to farmers in foreign sales.

The Canadian wheat board's price is currently about $1.73 a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern, for sales domestically and to foreign buyers. The federal government is opposed to the two-price idea, arguing that Canadians should not be made to pay more for wheat than foreign consumers.

Anti-U.S. Talk Flames in India, Fired by Dulles' Goa Statement

NEW DELHI (UP)—U.S. Ambassador John Sherman Cooper was summoned to the Indian foreign office today amid a new wave of anti-American feeling produced by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' statement on Goa.

High embassy officials said they considered the joint statement issued by Dulles and Portuguese foreign minister Paulo Cunha the biggest diplomatic blunder the United States could have made and said it inflamed the Indians more than U.S. aid to Pakistan.

American officials said the United States had been gaining from the statements made by the visiting Soviet leaders which embarrassed the Indian government. Now they said only a statement by President Eisenhower could retrieve the situation.

Dulles joined Cunha in calling the Portuguese possession of Goa on the west coast of India a Portuguese "province." India has contended Goa is a colony held by the Portuguese by force of arms against the wishes of the residents.

VANCOUVER DRAMA

B.C. Airliner Lands Safely On 2nd Try

VANCOUVER (CP) — Moments ticked off slowly for 20 passengers aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines Convair circling Vancouver International airport Sunday.

The plane signalled it was having landing gear trouble as it approached the airport on a flight from Kitimat and Terrace.

The message produced a flurry of activity on the ground. Crash trucks lined up along the runway and workers climbed into asbestos fire suits.

The Convair slipped in from the darkening sky, touched wheels to the tarmac, then gunned into the air again.

The plane circled once and then touched down for a smooth landing on the second try. Pilot said after that the instrument panel light indicating "wheels down" was not on during his first approach.

NIGHTLY MEETINGS SET IN ELECTIONS

Five Permanent Barn Inspectors Planned by B.C.

B.C. agricultural department will have five permanent dairy barn inspectors on the payroll following elimination of a backlog of inspections in the Fraser Valley.

This has been announced by department officials who said the manpower cut would be made within six months after nine temporary inspectors start work, expected within a month.

Permanent inspection service will have four men working in the Fraser Valley, and one on Vancouver Island. Officials said one inspector could visit 800 farms twice a year. About 4,200 barns require inspection.

The temporary inspectors are being named as the result of the Clyne milk report, which scored "filthy" conditions, and a "complete breakdown" of the inspection service.

Glenn L. Martin Air Pioneer, Dead

BALTIMORE (AP) — Glenn L. Martin, one of aviation's greatest pioneers, died here on Sunday night of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 69.

Behind him stretched a fabulous career crammed with aviation "firsts."

On Aug. 1, 1909, he made his first successful test flight. Nearly half a century later his gigantic company was picked by the United States government for the awesome job of making and launching a satellite of this planet.

FIRST DIVE BOMBER

His company claimed the construction of the first multi-passenger airplane, twin-engine bomber, torpedo and dive bombers, super-cargo ship, ground-to-air guided missile and many other innovations of the industry with which he grew up.

Martin built his first plane in an abandoned church at Santa Ana, Calif. He finished it in the flickering light of a lamp held by his mother.

In 1929 he built a plant at Baltimore, later added another at Omaha, Neb., and his company announced last week that still another will go up near Denver, Colo. The firm's annual payroll now is $92,000,000.

The Choice Is Clear

WHEN VICTORIA'S VOTERS GO to the polls on Thursday to elect a mayor the choice before them will be clearer than it has been for years.

The record of Mayor Harrison is fresh in mind. The platform of former alderman Percy B. Scurrah has been presented in simple terms anyone can understand. There are no distracting issues to divert the citizens' attention from the main contest.

The mayor, in his early campaign statements, gives the impression that Victoria was threatened with bankruptcy when he took office. That is not correct unless it is assumed that Victoria planned a Micawber-like program of spending far more than it received. Mr. Harrison's implication has been that economy was the prime concern—as it should be virtually at all times. In the practice of that economy, however, Mayor Harrison still presided over a council which imposed the highest mill rate in Victoria's history on the taxpayers. Even this year, when assessment equalization juggled the figures and brought down the rate, the total amount of taxes collected from citizens was higher than ever before.

Mayor Harrison cannot be blamed for increased budgets. But the best he can make of his administration's financial accomplishment is a claim that it might have been worse.

Even in this day of rising costs (schools, materials and pay) there is reason to question the sagacity of a policy which nailed down the lid on the city coffers. Victoria as part of British Columbia is influenced by boom developments. Yet civic Victoria has so far shied away from any expansion that it has done little more than keep up maintenance work and has avoided such essentials as action on the Point Ellice bridge.

In capital development the city has done nothing, unless it is to be credited with a model yacht pond financed by Provincial Government money that could have been better applied to an auditorium. Such is part of the Harrison record.

Again, when he took office, the mayor championed the spread of information on civic affairs. He planned to assure this process by public forums. Few were held and the scheme died. Instead, information through the press was restricted by what became known as the mayor's "secrecy" by-law.

If the regime has created one thing, it has been discord. Seldom, if ever, have animosities and lack of co-operation been nurtured in the ranks of the council and the staff as they have been in the last four years. Early lack of communication between the mayor and the municipal manager, present hostility between a majority of the aldermen and the chief magistrate, use of legalisms and withholding of advice are cases in point.

Initiative on essential issues has slipped from the council. When Victoria needed improved ferry service to the mainland, leadership in the drive for it came from the Chamber of Commerce. Victoria city's arguments revolved around unproductive discussions of ancient history.

These are points which cannot be ignored by the voters on Thursday. If they want a continuation of such tactics, that is their prerogative. They should vote for the Mayor.

If they want something more constructive, they have Mr. Scurrah's program before them. Mr. Scurrah has taken a definite stand on issues. There is nothing nebulous about his proposals. They are practical. They can be accomplished. His vision of Victoria's future is not one of gentle decay in backwaters shut off from the current of progress. And, above all, he has pledged himself to the promotion of harmony and co-operation within the council and within the community. With that attitude, and only with it, can the city go ahead.

If that is what the citizens want, they should vote for Mr. Scurrah.

Tito Lowers His Sights

MARSHAL TITO SUCCESS-fully threw off Communist Russia's domination, but he has not been equally successful in evading Russia's economic problems. As Moscow did before it, Belgrade is now wrestling with the difficulties arising from the totally planned economy.

Primary among these problems is a rapidly rising inflation and a low standard of living. The planners have not been able to achieve what the free market is able in the long run to establish—a general balance between production and consumption.

For Marshal Tito, the new program constitutes a reversal of previous policy. He has turned his back on dreams of quickly setting up a "heavy industry" economy and announces that greater importance will now be given to "consumer goods. This, he hopes, will raise the standard of living, but it will be at the expense of heavy industry.

The Yugoslav leader, in a communist soul-baring, admits that "thousands of millions of dinars," intended to finance heavy industry, never got that far. The money was "spent on various luxurious buildings and other local needs," he says, "while the construction of large projects was slowed down."

Marshal Tito does not give up heavy industry entirely. He still hopes that development will occur "at a slower pace." But the emergency that motivates him can be seen in the statement that he will now "give priority to those enterprises which will yield the quickest result in improving the living standard and in balancing the Yugoslav payments account."

These developments only lend point to the argument that all countries are not capable of heavy industrialization, lacking, perhaps, sufficient raw materials or power, technique or engineering ability. If Marshal Tito has now discovered that Yugoslavia is such a country it will constitute a much more important fact in the economic field than his advent was in the political.

It will alter, too, his country's relationships with its communist neighbors and the Western world. Such revisions of destiny, of course, are not necessarily permanent in the communist nations. But at the moment Yugoslavia appears to be headed for a less ambitious place in the scheme of things.

Those Dividends Again

THE Alberta Social Credit League seems to be creeping back, by a round-about way, to the Aberhart theory of national dividends.

A distribution to all the people of any surpluses from the administration of the province's natural resources would be called "individual participation dividends". They would differ in origin from the Aberhart bonus, since they would come from the sale of assets—presumably oil. Mr. Aberhart's dividends were to be continued by a provincial bank.

The League apparently favors this scheme of bonuses for all—while declining to endorse a motion urging an extra $20 a month for the needy—in preference to allocating greater grants to the municipalities.

Conventionally, any surpluses might be expected to go either to capital development or to the reduction of taxes. Such procedure would not, of course, have the spectacular appeal of hard cash to the citizens.

In the meantime municipalities require money—the case made by municipal councils to Mr. Bennett in British Columbia cannot differ greatly from that made to Mr. Manning in Alberta—but the surpluses, says the League, should not go in increasing amounts to help city and municipal governments.

Which may be good politics. Why, after all, should a provincial government give further aid to municipalities when it can make a gift directly to the citizen without obscuring the benefaction by passing it through an intermediary's hands?

New Use for Old Speeches

IF THE FORMERLY UNMENTIONABLE may now be mentioned, the currently publicized "health" undershirt could be one of the coziest of conversational topics.

The garment is a large collection of holes held together loosely by woven thread. According to report it stems from a Viking origin. The source stimulates the wearer to an assumption of that vitality, energy and purpose which guided Lief Erik. And its virtue resides in the theory of insulation.

The large holes pocket air which, protected from disturbance by an outer shirt, keeps the body heat close to the body.

The idea is not new. In earlier days, and probably today, athletes such as harriers and bicycle road-racers who wanted warmth without weight, used to slip sheets of newspaper under their jerseys close to their chests. These kept out the wind and kept in the warmth, also by a process of insulation.

In time, some lesser genius will combine the virtues of the "health" shirt of many holes with the newspaper sheet of wind resistance.

The materials for this combined undergarment will be assembled from the manuscripts of old and unsuccessful political speeches. In them the arguments have been shot full of holes, but still contain that indestructible volume of hot air which clings inevitably to an unsuccessful political speech. When the process is evolved even the electric blanket will be doomed.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

A WEEK or two ago, a correspondent signing himself STRAIGHT THINKING had a letter on this page in reply to a few sketchy views of mine on divorce. I should like to reply to some of his letter. The great trouble in this and similar arguments, when conducted in public, is that one is apt to bore the reader, or enrage him, or both. Also, it usually ends in one of two ways: either the two sides are really in agreement, and have simply been misunderstanding each other through bad definitions or a lack of definitions; or else they disagree on matters about which there can be no argument anyhow.

For example, if a man thinks the marriage ceremony of his own church was dictated word by word in heaven and the ceremony of another church was not, he may be wrong or he may be right, but there is little use in asking him to consider that he may be wrong.

EVEN inside a single church there can be fundamental disagreement. Can be, and is. In recent weeks it has been the Church of England ceremony, and the Church of England's view of divorce, behind any topical argument. Well, even in that church there seems to be a good deal of disagreement. For example, the Anglican Prayer Book plainly prints the Thirty-nine Articles of Religion as still being the true doctrine of that church, after very nearly 400 years. Article 25 says that marriage is not a sacrament.

But there has been a tendency among a great many Anglicans to declare that marriage IS a sacrament after all (as the Roman Catholics had claimed since the 12th century or so).

Some Anglicans (but by no means all) compromise by calling marriage a "lesser sacrament," along with the other four sacraments rejected by the Thirty-nine Articles. (The Articles, in common with most Protestant declarations, held there to be only two sacraments and not seven. These two were baptism and holy communion.)

Let me mention another disagreement on marriage, within the Church of England. Fifty years ago, a Bishop of London said that it was not for him to advise his clergy to refuse to marry any innocent but divorced person who wished God's blessing. He felt each case should rest on its merits, and the person to decide the merits and exercise discretion was the clergyman on the spot. He refused to give advice in strict and general terms. Today the bishops not only advise but instruct their clergy not to marry any divorced person whose former partner is still living. (Some bishops. Most bishops. Not all.)

Last year A. P. Herbert published a little book on "The Right to Marry." It is only 79 pages long, and will cost you only 70 cents if you order it from England, though a Canadian bookseller would probably ask $1.50 for it. I strongly advise you to read it if you are interested in the conflict of state laws and church laws, and the interpretation of divine laws. The author has some suggestions that might seem a little bold, to some readers, but he is reverent and fair.

ONE of his suggestions is this: the Church of England marriage ceremony could well take a lesson from the Church of England baptismal ceremony for such as are of riper years. At baptism, the person of older years does not reply "I will" when he or she is asked to "keep God's holy will and commandments." No, he or she replies "I will endeavor so to do, God being my helper." And as Sir Alan Herbert says, this answer is modest, reverent, and right. And here, mind you, we are concerned with a sacrament, which marriage is not (according to the Articles). And here one person is answering for himself or herself alone; in marriage, one person is required to answer for another as well, which is often impossible.

Sir Alan agrees, as does everyone who can read, that there is no doubt in the New Testament about the ideal of marriage. But surely there can be serious doubts about making this ideal a matter of church law or custom.

THERE are even doubts (among clergymen as well as laymen) about whether or not the ideal itself permits an exception. The strictest churchmen today say there is no doubt at all. In the past generation or two these rigorists have grown more rigorous and more numerous, and Sir Alan thinks they are harming both marriage and the church. Only 18 years ago, in 1937, the Bishop of Durham said, "The marriage union is made for man, not man for the marriage union." A bishop would be less likely to say so today. Far less likely. Therefore, since there are fashions in these things, even among very learned and thoughtful theologians, we can see that it is by no means obvious what the divine will is. The divine will, not as it tells us an ideal, but as it concerns those who cannot live ideally.

THOUGH published last year, this book refers (discreetly) to the recent crisis over royal marriages, which could be seen approaching in 1954. But it is not only on behalf of princesses that Sir Alan reminds his own church that its present policy is not unanimous, not permanent, not age-old, and not definitely laid down by the divine will.

The correspondent named "Straight Thinking" would probably disagree with the book. But on the chance of its containing things he has not yet considered, he might like to read it. In the meantime, I do wish he would not assume that I confuse the will of the majority with the will of God. I have no abiding faith in the wisdom of either an organized gang or a disorganized one. Further, if the will of God were obvious, I should regard myself as more simple-minded to doubt it than to accept it. But in many cases the divine will is not at all obvious, and to be too sure about it may be both proud and uncharitable.

As Our Readers See It

THEORY OF THE SUBMARINE

One may well wonder why the Communists persist in entering candidates at elections when they rarely succeed and so often fall so low as to lose their deposits. Louis Budenz, former editor of The Daily Worker, should know the score. He likens the Red policy to a submarine—always nine-tenths submerged with only the periscope above the surface.

The only reason the Reds operate a slate of candidates is to mislead the public. People then think of communism as just another political party, and when its candidates get only a few votes at election time they are counted as unworthy of attention. Anyone who gives voice to the idea that communism is a threat to our national welfare is scoffed at and regarded as a subject for psychiatric examination. This is precisely the attitude the Communists wish to create. They want to put the public to sleep while they carry on their subversive activities undisturbed.

Intelligence sources say they are remarkably successful in their duplicity. C. M. CADWALLADER, 511 Admirals Road.

HELP IN TIME OF TROUBLE

May I, through your columns, voice my sincere thanks to the gentleman who brought my husband from McKibben's Service Station to the Police Station when he suffered a recent indisposition. The gentleman was most kind then and most kind later in bringing to us the little things my husband had left behind.

I would also like to thank the police for their sympathetic treatment. My heartfelt thanks go out to all who helped us.

(MRS.) W. MUNRO, 2224 Quadra street.

HOW ABOUT CONSTRUCTIVE PLANS?

May I say a few words in defence of H. G. Howard's "Sob-Sister community" (whatever that might be?)

I have already commented on the ineffectiveness of the police in allowing a mob of "rowdies" to take control in the city on Halloween night. Now H. G. Howard informs us that we are faced with the problem of tens of thousands of our young children growing up to be beggars and blackmailers, merely because we poor misguided parents allow them to go around frightening other adults (who apparently never were children, and in any case always were their haloes!) into lavishing food, i.e. peanuts and candy on our hungry waifs and strays.

If he is so concerned about the future of our youngsters, I suggest that instead of joining in the all too frequent practice of offering negative suggestions by banning this and banning that, he offers a few constructive ideas for the benefit of the youth, who after all are the main asset of any country.

This youth problem is not peculiar to Victoria only or to this country, but is world-wide.

Unlike other authorities, however, who are attempting to meet this problem by offering programs of community activities, this city is doing exactly nothing, to "fill-in" some of the idle time of our youth, during which, much of the present nonsense is conceived.

Mr. Howard can "rest" assured that as this city grows, so too will the youth problem grow, unless proper counter-measures are taken during the early stages to provide a youth program to "educate" children along the right lines.

I cannot think of a better election pledge by potential aldermen than the promotion of some such scheme.

A. J. BROOME, 960 Lavender avenue.

NEEDS READJUSTMENT

There were two letters in your issue dated Nov. 30 under headings (1) "Evening of the Saints," (2) "Pows and Butter."

I hope these letters will be read by many. They are very much to the point and are unfortunately only too true. But no doubt they will be passed over and forgotten, worse luck.

The butter scandal is criminal. Other regrettable incidents have also happened in the past concerning the destruction and holding up of necessary food—in order to keep up prices—while many are near starvation.

There are certain people who seem to have lost sight of the fact that "Charity begins at home." A Country which permits such scandalous things doesn't deserve to prosper. We are always hearing what a wonderful country this is. I think it needs a deal of re-adjustment.

A SYMPATHISER WITH THE VICTIMS OF MIS-MANAGEMENT.

INSANITY AND DIVORCE

I find your feature "Ask the Times" most interesting and instructive, (who says the newspapers do not contribute to our education?) and I look forward to reading it each evening.

I was most intrigued by the question recently asked about whether divorce was granted on the grounds of insanity. During the past years since the last war we have had, on innumerable occasions, cases where wives having assumed their husbands killed in action or having died in enemy prison camps; have re-married on this assumption, only to have their first husbands return. The same tragic situation could arise, were divorce granted on the grounds of insanity, for cases have been reported of mentally deranged people being restored to normality. Of course, the question goes deeper than this; is insanity hereditary? And if so, then people affected should not consider marriage.

"FOR BETTER OR WORSE"

SHARING A GARDEN

I wish to state that I did not head any delegation in connection with a nursing and boarding home for the aged on St. Charles street.

I did attend the meeting in order to ascertain the possible devaluation of my property, which is purely residential, and to request a lattice fence between my garden and the utility portion of the proposed boarding home for the aged. Except for the almost certain devaluation of my property I feel that the proposed home is ideal for them.

The pleasure I have in my garden will be vastly increased by sharing it with those no longer able to enjoy their own.

HELEN I. HUMMEL, 1020 St. Charles street.

THE OTTAWA SCENE

By VICTOR MACKIE

More Money for Television?

CLEAR indications of the need for a special commission to inquire into future fiscal operations of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, are contained in the annual report of the CBC for 1954-55. The report states that looking ahead, the corporation could foresee some increase in commercial television income, but no increase (with possibly some decline) in income from the proceeds of the excise tax.

It added that it was apparent that the surpluses built up in 1953-54 and 1954-55 would have to be used to maintain operations in 1955-56.

What will happen when that surplus has been all used is the big question confronting the government. Will it be prepared to vote huge new sums out of the treasury to finance TV for Canadian set-owners? That is the problem that the commission will be expected to examine.

CABINET

There is reported to be a growing sentiment among members of the cabinet that the CBC should not be expected to continue spending thousands and thousands of dollars on providing entertainment of the type available in motion picture theatres. A number of members of the cabinet, however, contend that there is a place for the CBC in providing cultural entertainment, or special talks and other features which private television would not provide for Canadians.

The cabinet is becoming concerned over the rapidly rising costs of the CBC television division. It wants some guidance on how costly this corporation may become for the taxpayers, before major policy changes are contemplated in the radio and television fields.

RETRACTION

Henry B. McCullough has changed his mind. He is the Liberal member of Parliament for Pictou, Nova Scotia, who announced in a rash moment that he was going to resign his seat in the Commons. He indicated at the time that he was miffed over not receiving a senate appointment.

Now word comes from the Maritimes that Mr. McCullough has changed his mind. He would like to retain his membership in the Commons. In order to resign Mr. McCullough would be required to send his resignation formally to Mr. Speaker of the Commons. This the maritime MP did not do and consequently he has nothing to retract except his public pronouncement.

RAISES

A decision to raise the salaries of certain senior civil servants immediately below the rank of deputy minister affected some 50 senior officials. The increases were made retroactive to last July 1. Assistant deputy ministers are now raised to $12,000 while directors of certain branches get $11,000 and the heads of other branches will have incomes varying from $9,000 to $10,000 annually.

All of which points up the fact that the salary levels of the civil service are now well up with, and in some cases better, than the salaries paid in private industry. When holidays, sick leave and the generous superannuation plan are taken into consideration the Canadian civil servant no longer comes into the category of being "poorly paid" as was once the case.

NO RUSH

Indications are now that Prime Minister St. Laurent will be making no hard and fast proposals to the provinces, on the new federal-provincial tax plans, until January at the earliest. There are quite a number of suggestions that the Ottawa's deficit offer to the provinces may not be unveiled until Finance Minister Harris brings down his budget during the next session. At any rate one thing is clear, the provincial governments will have to curb their impatience and wait to hear what the Federal Government has to offer to replace the existing tax rental agreements.

SOLUTION

The Communist leader Khrushchev during his discussions with Canada's external affairs minister Pearson in the Crimea made clear how he would handle the problem of Communist parties in America if he were in charge of the Canadian or United States governments. Mr. Pearson had argued that a Communist party in any country was as much a source of fear to that country as a Russian base near its borders.

Mr. Khrushchev's "immediate and natural reaction," according to Mr. Pearson was "that this was a purely domestic matter; that if we didn't deal effectively with what we considered to be a menace as they would certainly do in Russia, then that was our affair."

REGARD

Mr. Pearson found in Russia a high regard for Canada. Its achievements in war and peace were respected. "They are not unaware, of our strategic location as their neighbors across the pole." Mr. Khrushchev, for instance, averred that if there were ever another war, Canada would have no geographical immunity from attack. He thought that this should make Canada all the more anxious to be on good terms with both her neighbors. (With the emphasis on "both.")

MARKED for READING

BROUGHT HOME

In Britain more people than ever now go to the theatre; it is partly a broadening of the educational basis, partly I suppose, the BBC too, which has brought what used to be a dry-as-dust school-room interest to life in thousands of homes—recently nine million people watched "Romeo and Juliet" on television.

—Philip Hope Wallace, dramatic critic.

A Clutter of Books

IT MAY BE muddleheadedness, or just lack of time, but I've been busy reading four books at once.

I find it more stimulating than confusing, because they are so different that they perk up a mind which is apt to grow sluggish over kitchen sink and stove.

The first book in my clutter is "The Journal of Katherine Mansfield, 1904-1922."

Although I'd read some of Katherine Mansfield's stories, I knew very little about her life. So I was quite unprepared for the strange, mad brilliance of this book.

It made me think about the hair-thin line between insanity and genius. It gave me the same queer feeling as "Wuthering Heights," Olive Schreiner's "The Story of an African Farm," and Radclyffe Hall's "The Well of Loneliness." It's a sense of lonely power, I think, and tortured striving, and the terrible price that people often have to pay for brains.

It's an uncomfortable book in many ways. But it's one I know I shall not forget.

The second book in my current clutter is "Honey Pots and Brandy Bottles," by E. L. Lewis. I suppose one could sum it up as "Country Essays." I like it for its quiet charm, its sensitivity, its humor, good taste, and gentle writing. It's a pleasant book to read little bits of between domestic chores or before one falls asleep at night. It's the sort of book that many older Victorians who love the country would enjoy.

My third book is "World Religions and the Hope for Peace," by David Rhys Williams.

I have read it very carefully because I never have been able to believe that Christians have a monopoly on goodness and truth. And to insist that they do seems to me almost suicidal in this atomic age, and in this shrinking world where Christians are outnumbered by two or three to one.

I was especially interested in the chapter on Christianity, and in the distinction drawn between the teachings about Jesus and the teachings of Jesus.

The debt we owe to both is enormous. For, without the teachings about Jesus, the teachings of Jesus might have been lost to us.

I was also interested in the chapter on the Golden Rule in all religions. Our form of it is "All things whatsoever ye would that men do to you, do ye even so to them." But the same rule in different words is found in the Hindu scriptures almost a thousand years before the advent of Christ. It crops up in almost all religions.

Because this rule is so nearly universal, says David Rhys Williams, there is a common ground among all religions, and a real foundation on which to build a more co-operative international society.

My fourth and last book is "Longer Flight," by Annis Duff. It's a sequel to her "Quest of Wings." All librarians and most teachers already know Annis Duff's earlier book. So do those parents who are seriously interested in reading fine books with their children. Both these books are full of the delights of reading with the young. They're stimulating and encouraging.

"Longer Flight" deserves more space than I can give it here. I can only say that it is written with the heart as well as with the head, and that Annis Duff, the mother of two children, writes with charm, and knows whereof she writes.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER ALVAKEZ

Blood Vessel Grafts

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

At the recent meeting of the American Heart Association, a number of prominent surgeons spoke hopefully about the new technique of transplanting a piece of artery from a blood vessel bank to help someone who much needs more blood in his legs. There are three main types of persons who need these grafts. One is the person with the main artery to a leg so plugged-up that the leg is likely to become gangrenous—require amputation. Another person can have a blow-out in an artery—called an aneurysm. If not treated, this weak spot may eventually burst open. Today some of these aneurysms can be cut out and replaced with a graft.

Another person may have a cancer that has grown into one of the main arteries of the body. In the past, this has meant that nothing could be done. Today, the cancer and the artery can perhaps be removed together, and the defect replaced by a transplanted length of artery.

At the recent meeting of the American Heart Association, my old friend, Dr. Thomas J. Dry, of the Mayo Clinic, reported that in the presence of a bad heart, a skilled and rapid operator can usually remove a diseased gallbladder that is causing much pain. It is a curious fact that often, after such an operation, the patient's heart gets much better. He (or she) is able to do more than he could before. Dr. Dry based these conclusions on an analysis of the records of 100 patients with heart disease who underwent gallbladder operations at the Mayo Clinic in the years 1948 to 1953, and lived to get much better.

In these days when so many persons, on general principles, take large amounts of hormones, it is well to note that at the recent meeting of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, Dr. William B. Ober and colleagues, of the Boston Lying-in Hospital, reported that the taking of large amounts of progesterone or some other hormone by the mother can make changes, and possibly dangerous ones, in the sexual glands of her unborn child.

At the recent meeting of the American Heart Association a new nerve-blocking drug which lowers high blood pressure, was described by Dr. John H. Moyer and his associates at Baylor University.

The new drug is known as Mecamylamine. Its actions are said to be more consistent and predictable than are those of some of the other powerful drugs of this type. It also has the great advantage that it is well absorbed from the digestive tract and hence can be taken by mouth. Some of the other drugs must be injected into the muscle.

At the recent meeting of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, Drs. F. D. Speer and M. M. Black announced their discovery that, by searching through microscopic sections of a woman's breast cancer, and observing the ways in which the body was attacking the cancer with cells called histiocytes and lymphocytes, one can get a good idea of the patient's "prognosis," or future course. If it is found that the body is putting up a big fight against the bad cells, the outlook is favorable.

EMPLOYMENT OF EPILEPTICS

In England, because of the way in which medicine is now practised, the government has records of all sick or disabled persons. In a report published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, it is stated that recently the total number of epileptics on the register of disabled persons was 16,267. Of this number only 1,670 were unemployed. Some can work in practically any shop while some of those with the most frequent spells are provided with what is called "shelter employment" in Remploy Ltd., an organization that is providing work in special factories for the severely disabled. Over 400 epileptics are employed by this company.

The Ministry of Labor regularly gives some 300 epileptics eight weeks of instruction aimed at preparing them for some kinds of work that they can do. The authorities stated that, when handled with understanding, the epileptic readily settles down to his work, and then he can do as well as anyone can. "Once he realizes that a seizure is not going to cause consternation to anyone, steady improvement sets in, and the frequency and duration of the seizures diminish. With many persons, the seizures disappear entirely."

Fireman Killed In Head-On Crash Of CNR Trains

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP)—A fireman was killed and two of the crew injured Sunday when a double-engine Canadian National Railway freight slammed into the nose of a standing freight at Harve Boucher, 20 miles east of here. Neil Morrison, 31, of Sydney, died of injuries in hospital here. Engineer Harold Davis of Sydney and brakeman Stewart Kennedy of Port Hastings, were cut and bruised when they jumped from the cab of the moving freight.

New Struggle Brewing For Power in Kremlin

LONDON (AP)—Rumblings of a shakeup brewing inside the Soviet Union here Sunday. Some analysts of Russian affairs predicted a new struggle within the Kremlin, with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev possibly ready to make a bid for supreme power.

Moscow radio has reported "great political activity" in the Soviet capital. Khrushchev's closest associates are making the rounds of district party conferences — presumably to lay down the future line.

Two important meetings have been arranged. The Supreme Soviet has been called into extraordinary session Dec. 23; the

All-Soviet Communist party congress meets in February. Diplomats are inclined to link the two. And either could provide the forum for a major pronouncement.

Khrushchev, as the acknowledged strong man in the Kremlin hierarchy, is believed behind any reshuffle that may be in the making. Since Stalin's death Kremlin leadership has functioned more or less as a collective with no one man holding the whip as Stalin did.

Cattle Rustlers Jailed 18 Months By Clinton Judge

CLINTON, B.C. (CP)—Four men from the Clinton area were sentenced to 18 months in Oakalla prison farm early in the weekend when they pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing cattle. The four, identified as Hermann Singbeil, George and Harold Nesler and Alex Kern, were arrested by an RCMP officer and a game warden on the same day they stole and butchered a calf. The animal was taken from the Three Bar ranch near here. Kern was sentenced to an extra three months, to run concurrently, when he pleaded guilty to the theft of a deer. The dead animal, a hunter's prize, was stolen from an auto court. RCMP Constable G. W. Anderson made the arrest.

RETURN REEVE CASEY

You cannot afford to lose the services and valuable experience of the man who instituted the first permanent work in Saanich and who has studied the projects from the very beginning; much of this work is still under construction and would offer untold difficulties to any newcomer to become familiar with the problems involved.

REEVE CASEY STANDS ON HIS PAST RECORD!

Space only permits a few of the permanent projects instituted by him over the past six years.

1. Submission of a referendum on expending approximately $36,000 per annum over a period of years to remedy the major drainage problems. This referendum was approved and a lot of valuable work has been completed.
2. Referendum approved for approximately $18,000 to provide sidewalks in the vicinity of schools for safety of school children; the most dangerous locations have received first attention.
3. Water works referendum approved by the electors in 1953 to borrow the sum of $185,000 for new connections to supply lines. This work has been finished well within the by-law amount and water restrictions have been lifted. New connections to supply mains have been increased from 3 to 10 and 22,000 feet of inadequate two-inch pipe replaced; the funds being derived from water works revenue.

THESE IMPORTANT PROJECTS AND OTHERS MUST HAVE CONTINUITY VOTE TO RETAIN CASEY ON SATURDAY, DEC. 10

B.C. Man Among 7 RCAF Dead In Transport Crash in France

Kootenay Airwoman Escaped Unhurt, Directed Ambulances to Mishap Scene

METZ, France (CP)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for seven Canadians killed in Saturday's crash of an RCAF plane near Montmedy, France.

Headquarters of the 1st Canadian Air Division announced today that the services will be held at RCAF No. 2 Fighter Wing at nearby Gros Tenquin. Burial will follow at the RCAF Scollay cemetery near Metz.

The RCAF Sunday night announced the names of six of the seven dead. That of the seventh was withheld pending confirmation of notification of next-of-kin.

Names of those announced Sunday, with addresses of next-of-kin, were:

Cpl. P. G. Knight, Cupar, Sask.
FO. P. Pigot, Cheshire, Eng.
FO. G. S. Newman, Stew. Lake, N.S.

Treetops Brushed Underside of Aircraft

FO A. E. Graham of Montague, P.E.I., one of three persons aboard who escaped uninjured, said the first indication he had the plane was in trouble was "when I heard treetops brushing the underside of the aircraft."

"The next thing I knew I was in my seat looking up at the sky. I crawled out of the wreckage and the first person I saw was Airwoman Pippen. We immediately set out to get help."

Airwoman F. L. S. Pippen, the daughter of Mrs. Eliza Pippen of Cranbrook, B.C., was the only woman among the 17 persons aboard the aircraft.

WALKED 1½ MILES

Graham told today how he and Miss Pippen walked a mile and a half after the crash to get help.

Graham, who is stationed at the air division headquarters here, was on a duty trip to London aboard the twin-engine freighter.

After he and Miss Pippen escaped from the wreckage "we walked down a narrow back road until we came to a small French village."

Is ARTHRITIC PAIN Almost Unbearable to YOU?

"My husband is a carpenter on the railway," writes Mrs. Jack Taylor, St. Catharines, Ont. "One morning he went to work and found he could not climb the ladder to do his work. A dull pain in his shoulder and leg was almost unbearable. The druggist recommended T-R-C's. My husband took 2 capsules and before the day was over he was back at work again. Now, if he has any pain at all, he carries T-R-C's in his lunch pail."

TORONTO ELECTS MAYOR TODAY

TORONTO (BUP)—Grey skies and snow flurries cut down the number of municipal voters going to the polls in Toronto today.

Three men are seeking election as mayor—the incumbent, Nathan Phillips, seeking his second term; former controller Roy Belyea, making his first race for the mayor's chair; and Ross Dowson, who calls himself a Trotskyite and is secretary-treasurer of the Socialist Educational League.

Khrushchev Overrides Burmese Hosts in Blasting U.K. Again

RANGOON, Burma (UP)—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev overruled his Burmese hosts Sunday night and called in western newsmen to hear him accuse Great Britain of "robbing the Burmese people of their last piece of bread."

The pudgy Communist leader spoke at a banquet at Taunggyi in Burma's Shan State. Burmese officials, anxious to prevent clashes between the talkative Russian and the western press, kept newsmen at a distance.

But Khrushchev rose to his feet called for the newsmen before he launched into the latest of the anti-western speeches he has made throughout Burma.

"There are some correspondents here who are not quite satisfied with what I had to say yesterday," Khrushchev said. "I am not making this speech for their satisfaction. Why are they not satisfied? Because I am going to say that the English were sitting here on your necks and were robbing your peoples and because it was done not for your benefit. They are sitting in these countries to rob the last piece of bread from the people and that's what they (gesturing toward the correspondents) don't like because the truth hurts."

Jack Ames lives with progress!

As a Chief Test Engineer of Avro Aircraft Ltd., Jack Ames knows a lot about what lies behind the spectacular progress of the aircraft industry.

"Few people realize what a vast amount of engineering has gone into the development of jet planes," says Mr. Ames. "Improvements in heat-resistant alloys have made it possible to create engines of enormously greater power. Together with advances in airframe configuration and manufacturing techniques, they have brought supersonic speeds within range today—and will help us break the thermal barrier tomorrow."

As a family man, Mr. Ames has had experience with another "industry" that has advanced in modern times... life insurance.

Take the group insurance plan in which he shares, for example. Less than a generation ago such plans were almost unknown. Today their benefits are enjoyed by millions and provide a useful supplement to personal insurance programs.

Today, too, all forms of life insurance are more flexible. Result: people now use it for many other purposes than the basic one of protection for the family.

Moreover, life underwriters today are better trained to help people with the task of building tailor-made plans.

In these and other ways, the life insurance companies in Canada have progressed to meet the changing needs of people in all walks of life!

Violence Marks Picketing At Seattle-Tacoma Airport

SEATTLE (AP)—A brief flurry of violence marred picketing of United Air Lines facilities at Seattle Tacoma International Airport Saturday night but peaceful picketing was resumed by members of the AFL Flight Engineers Union Sunday.

Testimonial Dinner Held For Winchs

VANCOUVER (CP)—A testimonial dinner was held here Saturday night for E. E. Winch and his son Harold, whose 22 years in political partnership is a commonwealth record.

Ernest, 76, sits as CCF member of the legislative assembly for Burnaby, B.C.; Harold, 48, serves as federal member for Vancouver East.

On Nov. 1 they eclipsed the record held by Joseph and Austen Chamberlain, who sat together in the British House of Commons from July 4, 1892, until July 2, 1914 when the elder Chamberlain died.

Chairman at the testimonial dinner was Erhart Regier, MP for Burnaby-Coquitlam.

POSTAL LABELS TO EASE CHRISTMAS MAIL RUSH

Every home in the Victoria area will receive a supply of green labels and yellow labels from postmen this week to ease the burden of Christmas mailing for postal employees.

The green labels should be slid under a piece of twine binding together Christmas cards addressed to out-of-town points. Cards for local delivery should also be bound together and a yellow label inserted.

Wherever possible mailers are asked to bring their bundles of cards to the main post office, thus speeding the flow of mail.

BURNT-OUT FAMILY SEEKS NEW HOME

A disorganized family would like to get together.

It's the family of Sgt. Bert Robinet, who was forced to leave his rented home at 432 Powell when fire ate into the premises Friday.

"The three children are scattered around with friends. We'd certainly like to be together again," the sergeant, with the Queen's Own Rifles, Gordon Head, said today.

The family would like to get a two or three-bedroom house, near the camp. They've had no luck to date.

A faulty furnace caused the fire which did about $500 damage to the home they had occupied since July, after moving from Windsor, Ont.

The family can be contacted by phoning neighbors at 3-8539.

Ted Johnson Injured

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—Jockey Ted Johnson, 29, of Port Credit, Ont., was pulled unconscious from his car, which burst into flames after hitting a parked car Saturday, while leaving Narrows Park after the races.

Johnson was taken to Pawtucket Memorial Hospital with a deep forehead gash. At first he refused to be admitted for a concussion and other possible head injuries, but 20 minutes later returned and was admitted.

Smelter at Prince Rupert Would Harm Fishing—MLA

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Establishment of a smelter here, sought by the city council, would be a danger to the Skeena River fishing industry, CCF MLA Frank Calder warned Saturday.

Mr. Calder, MLA for Atlin, was commenting on a recent city council move to send a brief to Frobisher-Ventures, Ltd., urging that a smelter now planned for Alice Arm be erected at Prince Rupert.

The smelter is part of the $50,000,000 hydro-electric and metallurgical industry planned for the Nass River and Alice Arm.

Mr. Calder said the metallic residue from a smelting operation would have a definite effect on fishing and would jeopardize thousands of dollars worth of gear and equipment.

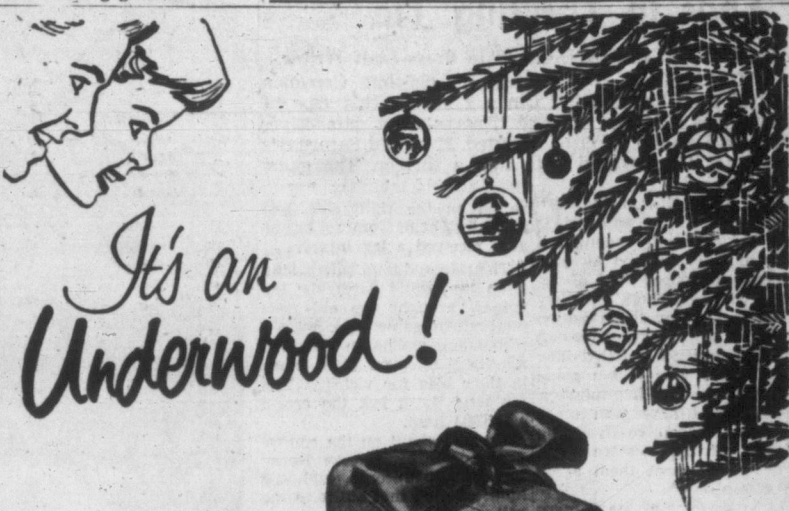

"The city must bear in mind the protection of an established industry—the fishing industry," he said.

With Alice Arm, 90 miles northeast of here, as the smelter site, Mr. Calder said the residue would sink before it reached the fishing grounds.

ASKED TO STAY IN U.S. SAYS RUSS ARCHITECT

LONDON (UP)—Alexander Vlasov, the Soviet architect who was strongly criticized by the Kremlin while he was visiting the United States, said today in a Pravda statement that American police tried to force him to defect to the West.

He charged that "provocateurs . . . made suggestions . . . that I should not return to my motherland" after news of his criticism reached the West.

West Robbed By Mud Blob?

All-Star Grid Game Ends in Thrilling Tie

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A return to old-time Canadian football probably wouldn't win a game in this day of streamlined play but its effectiveness as a game-saver and crowd-pleaser can't be disputed. It turned Saturday's East-West all-star mud bath into a thriller. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

After it was all over, the westerners claimed that an official's call and, ironically enough, a blob of mud on the already-soaked ball, robbed them of victory. The easterners said they had found a way to straighten out the west's ground-eating split-T formation and that they would have won if the game had gone another five minutes. "We could have won on a dry field," said coach Doug Walker of the eastern club. "I'd like to meet them again on a nice day."

Lynn Bottoms of the Calgary Stampeders received a black eye and a cut above the eye. Herb Trawick of the Als suffered torn muscles and ribs separation on the right side, and Bill Albright of Toronto Argonauts received a leg injury.

The rain and mud, plus a situation that could hardly be imagined, brought the old-style punt-return game back with a resounding wallop in the final minute that foiled both teams in their bids for victory. The fantastic finish left the crowd of 15,083 limp.

It came about on the controversial call by referee Harry Bowden of Toronto and the hunk of mud that stuck to the ball.

The westerners, sniffing a win in the final seconds, drove to the eastern 18, within range for the game-winning point.

Only two plays were left before the clock ran out. Tom Dublinski clicked on a 42-yard pass to Al Pfeifer at the West 30 and this time the East was poised for victory.

Fraser kicked to Jackie Parker behind the West goal line. Eastern players charged in and Parker hoofed it out of danger as the gun sounded to end the game. The East was penalized for roughing the kicker and the West was given an additional play on its 10-yard line although time had expired. Parker froze the ball.

Players of both clubs dashed in all directions. Heydenfeldt put the foot to it again, a mud-caked easterner fell on the ball at the 23-yard line and the West received a 15-yard penalty for not giving yards to the receiver.

SWING HIGH, SWING LOW

It probably will never gain the popularity of the Charleston or the Mambo, but the Hard-Boot Soccer Hop, as demonstrated here, went over with a bang Saturday at Royal Athletic Park. Partners in the weird dance are, left to right, goalie Pete Winter and full-back Bill Hope of Victoria Strathconas and outside right Dave Patterson of Vancouver Halecos. Straths were the more nimble and won the Coast Soccer League match, 3-1. (Times Photo.)

Straths Score Twice; Win Match, 'Break Even'

BY BILL RAYNER
Victoria Strathconas, striking while the iron is hot after a pleasing 3-1 Coast Soccer League victory over Vancouver Halecos Saturday, are attempting to schedule a postponed match with Vancouver St. Andrews into Athletic Park next Saturday.

Strathconas attracted 600 fans into Athletic Park for their joust with Halecos, and sent them all home well satisfied with an incisive display of soccer against the mainland side. The 600 was the "break-even" mark for team manager Charlie Lewis in his struggle to make ends meet for the club, so he is attempting to get the fans back into Athletic Park next Saturday while they are still happy, and perhaps show a long-awaited profit.

Athletic Park has been rented by Victoria and District Football Association for Saturday, but negotiations today are expected to leave the way clear for Strathconas to entertain St. Andrews.

The week following, Strathconas will travel to Vancouver to meet Pilseners. The long layoff since Oct. 22, when they lost to North Shore United, 4-2, in their first and only league encounter, plus a juggled line-up seemed enough for Strathconas to dispose of Halecos Saturday.

Inside forwards John Weldon and Ken Hibbert, who moved over from centre-forward, sparked Victoria's crisp attacking force, and the half-line anchored by Willie Hamilton, blunted most of Halecos' scoring thrusts.

Standouts for Halecos were goalie Ray Dixon, who ranged far out of his net to stop some promising Strathconas drives, little outside-right Dick Alsworth, and centre-forward Bill Popowich, who scored their only goal.

John Weldon opened the scoring at eight minutes with a blast from dead centre and Popowich beat goalie Pete Winters to the ball at 22 minutes to tie it up.

Ced Robb, who had one of his better days at outside-right, put Strathconas ahead to stay eight minutes later, floating in a high shot after taking Tommy Duce's pass.

Strathconas, although veering from the short pass to the loose kick and run style in the second half, remained in command of the game, and Duce scored the insurance goal at 31 minutes, sliding into the goalpost and tipping in a relay from Hibbert and Ernie Eastlake.

In a game at Vancouver, Pilseners blanked St. Andrews, 2-0. Tom Craigs of Pils scored on a penalty kick and Bob Swinton tallied the other marker in the second half.

Bruins Halt Skid; Leafs, Hawks Fall

Habs, Rangers Triumph

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins finally ended their winless streak in the National Hockey League. Now Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks appear to be on the skids.

Bruins won their first game in 11 starts as they shut out Leafs 5-0 at Boston Sunday night. It was Leafs' second straight loss—they were beaten 3-1 at home Saturday by Montreal Canadiens—and their third game without a win.

The league-leading Canadiens took a 5-1 win over the Hawks at Chicago Sunday night. It was Hawks' third loss in a row and their fourth in five contests.

Detroit Red Wings were the last team to beat Boston. They won 5-0 at Boston Saturday and then New York Rangers kept up their pace with Canadiens by shelling the Wings 7-3 before 15,108 fans at New York Sunday night.

So today, the Habs, with 37 points, hold a three-game margin over the Rangers. Detroit and Chicago are tied for third place with 22 points, two ahead of Bruins and Leafs.

The smallest Boston Garden crowd of the season—6,670—watched Fleming Mackell lead Bruins out of sole possession of the cellar Sunday with a pair of goals, his first of the season. Doug Mohns, Murray Costello and Vic Stasiuk counted the others.

A crowd of 13,829 at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens saw Canadiens run their undefeated string to four games. Veteran right winger Floyd Curry, Bernie Geoffrion and Henri Pocket Rocket Richard were the Montreal markers.

Rookie Billy Harris scored for Toronto in the second period. His short, partially-screened shot from a scramble in front of the Montreal goal spoiled goalie Jacques Plante's bid for his sixth shutout this season.

Curry's goal, at 19:30 of the first period, was his first on Toronto ice in eight seasons of NHL play. Geoffrion scored what proved to be the winning marker, 4:29 of the middle session.

The Sunday game, watched by 9,481 fans at Chicago, saw Kenny Mosdell score a pair with singles going to Jean Beliveau, Maurice Richard and Curry. Johnny Wilson was the Hawk scorer.

In New York, Dave Creighton led the Ranger Marksmen with a pair. Andy Bathgate, Ron Murphy, Dean Prentice, Danny Lewicki and rookie Andy Heben-ton notched the others. Howe and Lindsay counted Wings' first two markers and Norm Ullman got the other.

No games are scheduled until Wednesday when Maple Leafs visit New York.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Ken Smith's two goals and an assist sparked Colorado College to a 7-1 hockey win over University of Toronto Saturday night.

Drake Hotel at 7:30, and the Clippers will meet the improved C & C Taxi squad at 9.

Saturday night, in one of the best games in Nanaimo this year, Clippers held period leads of 3-1 and 5-3, and overran the stout Navy crew in the final frame.

Smith with three goals and Zuback with two led Nanaimo's assault.

SPOKESMAN SAYS:

Tech to Play In Bowl Game

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia Tech will probably keep its Jan. 2 Sugar Bowl football date with Pittsburgh despite the race issue raised by Governor Marvin Griffin which touched off an all-night riot by Tech students.

Shortly after Griffin was burned in effigy early Saturday for an athletic segregation proposal that would cancel Tech's fifth straight Bowl appearance, a source close to him said "Georgia Tech will be allowed to play in the Sugar Bowl."

The student demonstration followed the governor's request Friday to the university system board of regents to bar state college teams from playing opponents with negro players or in games where spectators are not racially segregated.

Pittsburgh has a negro, Bobby Grier, a reserve back, on its football squad. And segregation will not be practiced in sale of Pitt's block of tickets to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, La.

The Griffin administration spokesman who said Tech would be permitted to play pointed out that Griffin's message to regent chairman Robert O. Arnold did not specifically mention the Sugar Bowl.

But in view of the sweeping segregation policy laid down by the governor and his call of "an immediate meeting" of the regents to consider it, the request obviously was prompted by the forthcoming Sugar Bowl game. Arnold said he has asked the regents to meet this morning to study the governor's request.

IT'S THAT MAN AGAIN

One of the most larceny-minded players in Canadian football is Montreal Alouettes' great defensive half-back Hal Patterson. Here the mud-splattered Patterson, defending for the East, snatches a pass bound for the West's Oscar Krueger in Saturday's East-West game in Toronto. Patterson scored all of the East's points as they tied, 6-6, with the West. (SNS Photo.)

Painter Leads Golf As Morrison Skids

Bob Morrison, Uplands Golf Club veteran, skidded to an 81 Sunday at Colwood Golf Club and slid out of the lead in the city monthly medal competition.

Starting the second round of the competition with a one-stroke lead, Morrison wound up tied for fourth in the over-all scoring, Colwood's Vic Painter firing a 73 Sunday to take over the lead with a two-round total of 148.

Bob Woods of Gorge Vale topped Sunday's round with a sharp 72, but he did not turn in a card in the first round.

Painter's Colwood running mate Bill McColl now holds down second place after two rounds with a 150 total, having recorded a 75 Sunday, while Jimmy Robertson of Colwood is third with 151.

Grouped at 152 are Morrison, Bob Fleming and George Bigelow, while Norm Boden of Gorge is at 153, and Uplands' Frank Scroggs has 154.

Bays Extend Win Streak

Oak Bay Wanderers thumped short-handed James Bay Whites, 36-0 at Windsor Park Saturday to remain undefeated in the Victoria Rugby Union's first division.

The rugged Wanderers rolled up a 26-0 margin in the first half against the Whites, who played with only 12 men.

In the other first division match Saturday, Victoria College and James Bay Blues each scored two converted tries at Macdonald Park to battle to a 6-6 draw, while in second division action, Navy trounced Victoria College, 28-6. Truren scored three tries for the winners.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy who is a prize, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions to select to answer will receive as prize, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" to Katherine Goba, aged 9, of Lancaster, Penna., for her question:

How Does a Starfish Eat?

Have you ever tried to open a live oyster? If you have, you know that it is no easy job. The oyster seems to resent having its two shells pried apart. The harder you try to get them open, the harder he grips them together. This is also true of clams, mussels and other two-shelled creatures. It takes a strong arm, a special knife and a special knack to open live oysters, clams, mussels and such.

Yet the pretty little starfish can do it all by himself. For these shellfish are his favorite food. True, he has five or more strong arms for the job. But none of them are more than a few inches long. A starfish no more than six inches from tip to tip can open a live oyster.

The underside of his pointed arms are covered with tiny suckers. He begins by getting a good grip over the lip of the oyster shells. Naturally, the oyster shuts himself up tight as a drum. But the starfish gets an arm or two on one side and an arm or two on the other.

Then begins a tug-of-war. The oyster exerts his muscle to keep his two shells shut. The starfish exerts his muscles to get them open. Slowly and steadily the pressure goes on. The oyster can bear it no longer. It gives way. The starfish pries the shells apart. Dinner is served.

The mouth of the starfish is a round hole on its underside. It is in the middle of its spreading arms. And it opens straight into the stomach. There is no throat. In fact, the starfish can send its stomach out through its mouth. This is how it gets the oyster out of its shell. The starfish simply turns its stomach inside out, reaches down and engulfs the oyster.

Though clams, mussels and oysters are the starfish's favorite food, he also enjoys snacks of smaller shellfish. He sometimes catches sea snails and creatures with paper-thin shells. These little fellows he does not stop to open. He swallows them whole, shell and all. Later, he spits out the shelly fragments. The starfish is quite an acrobat, though in slow motion. He can walk like a dancer on the tips of his toes. He can flip over on his back when stranded. He can wriggle through a hole no wider than one of his arms. But he is not quick enough to catch anything much faster than a clam—or an oyster which does not move at all.

Starfish are great pests in oyster beds. In days gone by, fishermen tried to destroy them by tearing them apart. The strange result was more starfish than ever. For the little fellow can grow a new arm when he loses one. He can even grow a new body from one single arm!

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Kaye Thompson, aged 12, of Livonia, N.Y., for her question:

"What is the derivation of the word taxi?"

A taxi is listed in the big dictionary under a number of aliases. It is a taximeter cab, a taximeter cab or a taximeter cab. Naturally a cruising cab would escape before you could use one of these long names to hail it. So a short name is necessary. And the most important syllable in taximeter cab—was-used-to-speed-things-up.

This syllable refers to the most important part of the cab—the thing that makes it different from most other automobiles. That is the tax, or price you pay, when the ride is done. On a taxi, this tax, or fare, is decided by a ticking meter—the little busybody called a taximeter.

There are taxiplanes. Like the taxicab they are also in the market for public hire. The word taxi is also used as a verb to describe certain actions of all aircraft. A plane taxis along the ground before it takes off and after it lands. Certain planes taxi on the water. This verb probably got its meaning because the aircraft seemed to cruise along like a taxicab—not because the plane uses a taximeter for this operation.

Russian Artists Seek World Contacts

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said Saturday that, although the Geneva conference did not pass positive decisions on the subject, the Soviet Union intends energetically to pursue cultural and scientific contacts with other countries.

"The Soviet government desires to develop and maintain contact of Soviet scientists, men in public life and men of art with representatives of other states and we shall do this with all insistence and energy," he told an Austrian parliamentary delegation in a half-hour meeting at the Kremlin.

"Our aim is that these contacts be useful for our country as well as other countries. They facilitate better mutual understanding, cooperation and friendship between different states."

Molotov also praised the neutrality policy adopted by Austria under terms of its independence treaty last spring and said "on this basis we are our friends in all spheres, political, economic and cultural."

In his reference to the Geneva conference, Molotov said the fact it did not reach positive decisions on development of contacts between countries "does not at all mean that that which was not achieved today will not be achieved tomorrow."

The foreign minister said that the new relations between Austria and Russia have a great significance for both countries and for the states of Europe in general. "As you are aware," he said, "the suggestion that Austria should officially occupy a position of neutrality was made on the initiative of the Soviet Union."

"We felt that this answered the interests of Austria and the Austrian people and at the same time was in accordance with the interest of peace in Europe. We think it is important for all people that now, along with Switzerland, there is another neutral state in Europe."

Noted Pianist Loses Memory, Hands Unhurt

Gieseking's Wife Dies in Bus Crash

STUTTGART, Germany (UP) — German physicians said today pianist Walter Gieseking has suffered a temporary loss of memory following the bus crash Friday night that killed his wife.

The doctors said Gieseking cannot remember events or things he said the previous day, but they stressed they are "convinced the loss of memory is not permanent."

Doctors for the 60-year-old Gieseking refused to disclose whether he had been informed of the death of his wife, Anna Maria, but they indicated that if he had heard the news now he might not be able to remember it.

They described his recovery as "normal" and said his injuries were serious but not critical. They said the pianist's hands were not injured in the crash.

The accident occurred in a thick fog as a bus carried the Giesekings and 16 other passengers from Frankfurt's Rhine-Main airport to Echternach airport. The bus ran into a bridge support while speeding at 75 miles an hour.

Gieseking recently concluded a successful American tour. He cancelled a scheduled series of appearances in 1948 after protests against his alleged Nazi associations.

Grandmother Misses Out On $100,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Ethel Richardson, 72-year-old great-grandmother from Los Angeles, missed the $100,000 question on the Big Surprise television program here Saturday.

Under rules, however, she will get another chance at the big money next week.

Mrs. Richardson, a folksong and folklore expert, was floored by a question asking the Indian name of the wilderness trail in Tennessee.

The answer is Quasiato, meaning mountains where deer are plentiful.

More Christmas Spirit Wanted In Jaycees Lighting Contest

Only change in the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas lighting contest this year is in the best Biblical scene by a boy or girl aged 10 to 16 years.

This has been changed to "Entry which best depicts the true Christmas message."

Frank Mannix of the Junior Chamber says this is part of a campaign to get more of the Christmas spirit into this year's entries.

There is no entry fee for any of the six groups. Entries may be submitted on forms printed in the newspapers or on forms obtainable at the Junior Chamber office in the Black Ball Ferry Lines building.

Entries close at midnight Dec. 16.

Classifications are for a completely decorated house, a decorated door or window, Christmas garden lighting, novice entry, true Christmas message and non-contestant.

"Originality and over-all effect are the main considerations in judging entries," Mr. Mannix said. "Decorations need not be elaborate or expensive."

8-Day Remand In Shooting

NANAIMO—Daniel F. O'Connor, charged Saturday in Qualicum Beach with attempted murder following the Friday night shooting of two brothers, will be held in Oakalla Prison pending a preliminary hearing.

Northwest Bay Hunters Shoot 308 Deer

NANAIMO (CP)—A total of 308 deer fell to hunters' guns in the Northwest Bay area of Vancouver Island this year, compared with only 93 last year, an official of the Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective Association announced here.

Ted Barsby, in his access committee report to the association's annual meeting, gave the figures.

He said 158 deer were taken last week alone, compared with the 150 shot during the rest of the season.

Last year, he said, the figure was 93.

This year, 1,376 hunters went through the various gates in the area, compared with only 1,162 last year.

Best hunting last weekend was reported from the Courtenay area, where 113 hunters took 91 deer.

John Kemp was re-elected president of the association with Art Coburn vice-president.

Mr. Barsby, Bill Spark and Vince Senini were named directors. Fred Marshall is secretary.

Deane Finlayson, provincial leader of the Progressive Conservative party, speaking from the audience, read a letter sent by the association last summer to the lands and forests department, voting against the sale of Hammond Island. He explained he represented the company seeking to control the island for a housing project.

Alf Bailey, replying for the association, said his group was not supporting any party which wished to buy the island. "For many years we have waged a fight for the average man in the street," he said.

Mt. Arrowsmith Scout Group Elects Officers

QUALICUM BEACH—Bob Hodgson was re-elected president of the Mount Arrowsmith Boy Scout Association at its annual meeting in the Parkville parish hall.

Walter Barnum was elected vice-president, and Mrs. E. A. Terrien re-elected secretary. W. J. Ham is treasurer; badge secretary is Mrs. G. Branson, and public relations will be directed by H. V. S. Page.

Strength of scouting in the three communities of Parkville, Qualicum Beach and Combs is now 63 Cubs, 35 Scouts and 14 Scouters. Excellent progress was reported from all units, and the new cubmaster of the Combs pack, Roy Bosson, was welcomed by the meeting.

Silent tribute was paid to the memory of the late J. H. Twidale, district commissioner and keen worker for Scouting for many years. The meeting closed with the showing of films of the World Jamboree camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake, taken by Scoutmasters Harry Butler and Wally Barnum.

Col. W. B. Clayton, Ex-Duncan Dentist, Dies in Auckland

Former Duncan dentist and resident of Victoria, Col. William Barratt Clayton, DDS, died Thursday at Auckland, New Zealand.

He was director of the Canadian Army Dental Corps during the First World War, serving both in Canada and overseas.

Born in Dearborn, Mich., of British parentage, in 1873, Col. Clayton spent his early youth in Victoria and after studying dentistry, practiced at Nelson, Prince Rupert and Duncan.

He moved to New Zealand on retirement.

Surviving are the widow, three sons and one daughter, John at Vancouver, William at Alberni, Pitt at Nanose and Clemency at Vancouver.

Victorians, Dr. C. J. Clayton and Dr. C. J. Clayton, Jr., are nephew and grand-nephew, respectively. There are several grandchildren.

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, DEC. 5, 1955 14

Tugboat Wins Race to Save Fishpacker

VANCOUVER (CP)—A sturdy river tug operating out of Vancouver pulled a 45-foot fishpacker from the rocks of Active Pass Saturday night after a grim race against time.

The packer Georgian Bay, believed to carry a crew of four, was pulled from the rocks near Ganges Island, 40 miles southwest of here, about 1½ hours after it heeled onto the rocks.

The River Ace, which made the rescue, was one of three marine rescue squadron boats racing to the scene.

Marine radio said the Georgian Bay, which ran aground because of rudder trouble, was pulled off safely. No one was injured.

KINSMEN'S PET GOOSE WILL AID POLIO FUND

CHEMAINUS—Members of the Lake Cowichan Kinsmen Club got "the bird" on their latest visit to the local Kinsmen Club.

The bird was "Martha," a real, live goose, presented to Lake Cowichan president Gordon Loutlet by Jack Miller, Chemainus inter-club chairman.

Mr. Miller explained that "Martha" was a "traveling goose," and that Lake Cowichan was expected to deliver her into the care of another Kinsmen Club within three weeks. The procedure would then be repeated.

Last club in the district to hold the goose will be required to take it to the district convention at Trail where it will be raffled off in aid of the Kinsmen Polio Fund.

Donations of $15 each were made to the Cenotaph Fund and the March of Dimes.

Hospital Conciliation Talks Due to Reopen in 10 Days

Conciliation talks for hospital workers in four up-island hospitals, slated to begin in about 10 days, will deal with fringe benefits rather than a wage hike.

Conciliation officer is W. T. McLaughlin, who will take part in meetings between employees and representatives of Duncan, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Port Alberni hospitals.

The union, Hospital Employees' Federal Union (TCL), wants a retirement scheme under the Municipal Act similar to that in effect at Royal Jubilee and Vancouver General Hospitals.

Employees seek in addition a medical service plan, four weeks' annual holiday after 10 years of service, and unemployment insurance.

A joint employer-employee application is necessary for the latter since hospital employees are included in the voluntary area of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Qualicum Legion Will Strengthen Assistance Fund

QUALICUM BEACH—Appointment of a committee to consider ways and means of building up the branch's poppy fund was recommended to the incoming executive at the meeting of the Qualicum Beach branch, Canadian Legion.

The fund is for the assistance of veterans and veterans' dependents. Officers were nominated for 1956, and election will take place at the next meeting, Dec. 12.

J. V. Wilkinson was appointed service officer of the branch. Letters of thanks will be sent to the Qualicum College Cadet Corps for its assistance on the Remembrance Day parade, and to the Qualicum Beach Garage for shelter from the weather on that occasion.

Fairbridge to Hear Hospital Committee

DUNCAN—King's Daughters' Hospital development committee officials will speak at a public meeting at Fairbridge school tonight on their plans for development of a new hospital.

A similar meeting will be held Thursday night at the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association hall.

No Change in Municipal Taxes, Ratepayers of Crofton Assured

CROFTON—Ratepayers can expect little or no increase in general taxation next year, Coun. A. E. Craig of North Cowichan municipality told a meeting of the Crofton Ratepayers' Association.

Taxes had been reduced last year "to about as low as it is possible to reduce them." School taxes, though, are another matter, the Chemainus councillor and finance committee chairman said.

"They will likely go up. We have no control over school taxes and they will depend upon the demands of the school boards," he said.

Percentage of taxes collected in North Cowichan municipality to date is 91 per cent.

A report on the public works program was given by Reeve C.

A. P. Murison. In addition to rebuilding, asphalt and surveying roads, council was carrying out a long-range program of acquiring land for the eventual widening of all roads," he said.

"Our municipality has grown from the horse and buggy days, but many of our roads are still too narrow," he said.

Reeve Murison urged ratepayers to approve a by-law for the withdrawal of land from the Crofton fire protection district.

Purpose of the by-law is to relieve the Crofton volunteer fire department of the responsibility for the fire protection of the new pulp mill. B.C. Forest Products Ltd. is prepared to provide its own fire protection, he said, "the same as the mill at Chemainus does."

At the same time, however, the company realizes that the Crofton fire department would be available in case of emergency and is prepared to make an annual grant of $1,000 a year to the department. Importance of the grant would be realized, the Reeve said, when it was known that revenue from the fire tax of 1½ mills is only $713.

In January ratepayers will be asked to approve another by-law for purchase of a new fire truck.

"If the by-law on Dec. 10 passes, no new taxes will be needed to finance the purchase of the fire truck. If, on the other hand, the by-law fails, and you lose the annual grant from B.C. Forest Products Ltd., revenue to pay for the truck must come from increased taxation."

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

DISTRICT NOTES: At the annual meeting of the Akela Club held on Thursday the writer was elected as "Akela," Art Chamberlain as "Baloo" and Marge McClure as "Golden Quill."

Assistant commissioner Francis Naish presented Scouter Norman Tipper with his warrant of appointment. The evening finished with carol singing and square dancing.

The scoutmasters' district training course spent the weekend at Camp Barnard under the leadership of Martin Dawson with Scouters George Bennett, Chris Pike and Bob Mills as instructors.

Scouting explained courses were conducted at the Gordon Head and Belmont groups during the past week.

SIDNEY TROOP: At the regular troop meeting a "going-up" ceremony was held when Don McKay and Douglas Alexander from "A" pack and Michael Litwin from "B" pack went on to the Scout troop.

District Cubmaster Winnie Bennett visited "A" pack's meeting on Thursday.

CHINESE TROOP: At the last regular meeting rescue and fire-fighting instruction was given, methods of throwing a life line practised, as well as how to use a bowlin-on-a-bight used to take a person from a burning building.

On Sunday the troop went for a day's hike in the Gordon Head area. Fire lighting, cooking, tracking and compass work was carried out. Instruction in conservation was given on natural tree growth and underbrush, showing how they held the moisture in the ground.

WINDSOR PARK TROOP visited the View Royal troop for an exchange-of-ideas meeting. The View Royal Rover Scouts gave the boys a "mug-up" at the end of the meeting.

Congratulations to Scouter George Davis of this group on his marriage which was held on Saturday evening when 20 scouts turned out to form a guard of honor.

FAIRFIELD GROUP: Bob Lister of the "A" pack went on to scouting at a "going-up" ceremony. He went on to the Cathedral troop where he was welcomed by Scouter Art Hadfield.

At this group's annual fall fair held on Saturday evening a record turnout was held. Over $300 was made, the funds going to the upkeep of the hall and running the three packs, troop and Rover crew.

ELKS OWN PACK: Bud Gilmore and Russell Kowere joined as new chums. Douglas and Martin Buck were invested as Wolf Cubs by Akela Edith Dawson. Bob Burnett received his first star and John Wright his gardener's badge.

CORVOVA RAY PACK: Greg Monk received his first year's star. Terry Owen, Brian Gillett and Garry Smith of the Colwood pack received their two-year star.

PROSPECT LAKE GROUP: Jack McGreer was invested as a Wolf Cub by Akela Stan Jacobs at their regular meeting on Friday evening. Ian O'Connell received his House order badge from District Cubmaster Winnie Bennett, who paid the pack a visit.

DUNSMUIR TROOP held an investiture on Friday evening when Scouter Harold Harrison invested Bill Flowers and Tommy Pederson. Second class badges were presented to Dick Hobbs and Bill Hennis.

Topaz Residents Given Time To Protest Garbage Landfills

If Topaz Heights residents wish to protest city plans for garbage landfills in that area, they will have plenty of time.

"We can't proceed with the experiment for from four to six months," public works chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell said Saturday.

In May, 1954, residents successfully petitioned against the same scheme.

But before any definite arrangements are made, city council will hold public meetings, probably at Quadra Street school, during January, to explain the need and results of the project.

The works committee endorsed a plan put forward by acting city engineer, J. C. Garnett, last Friday.

He felt that a one-year experimental sanitary landfill should be attempted in the Topaz Park-Baker Brickyard area. During this period the city would be able to set up a new garbage collection centre at Garbally Road, financed by savings effected through implementation of the landfill scheme.

The method has been used effectively in Oak Bay (the fire hall is built on a garbage fill according to Ald. Austin Curtis), Esquimalt and North Vancouver.

The engineer said there were a number of reasons why the present facilities should not be abandoned immediately.

The appropriate site for a new garbage wharf at Garbally Road is currently in use by Victoria Paving Company, whose operation is in the city interest and who should be given a year's notice.

Time is required for design of a new wharf and incineration unit. Island Tug and Barge, which now hauls the garbage to sea, should be given a year's notice of temporary suspension of the service. Land fill should be fully explored first.

He said disadvantages in the program were that for the duration of the land-fill experimental services of Island Tug and Barge would be discontinued and it might be difficult to procure again.

If necessary, however, he thought the city could either get its own scows or begin contracting land-fill to points outside of the city.

Advantages listed were: Funds for sale of the old wharf and economies from land-fill; reclamation of an unsightly area; cessation for a period at least of sea dumping, and the chance to estimate if beach board.

Vancouver Police Check on Hoodlums

VANCOUVER (CP)—Growing picture of hoodlumism here will be reviewed today by top city police officials.

The meeting follows a week-end of teen-age lawlessness which saw youths involved or suspected in crimes ranging from house breaking to arson.

First major outburst of hoodlum violence exploded during the Grey Cup celebrations of more than a week ago when near-riot conditions were reached among a gang of youths.

The question hoodlumism will be one of the items discussed at the regular meeting today of police department heads.

In one week-end incident six youths tried to push their way into a car driven by Mrs. E. Lillquist. She told police the boys tried to climb into her car as she was leaving a parking lot. The woman pushed them out of the car and drove away.

Kelowna City Official Eludes RCMP; $6,300 Still Missing

KELOWNA (CP)—RCMP say no trace has been found of Jack O'Neill, former assistant accountant at the city hall, wanted in connection with the disappearance of tax receipt money last October.

O'Neill chartered an airplane the coast Oct. 18 after he started off to the bank with the city money.

His abandoned car was later found outside the telephone office. RCMP recovered $41,000 in cheques in the vehicle, but $6,300 in cash is still missing.

Police said O'Neill is known to have arrived in New Westminster but they have been unable to trace his movements from that point.

SKIN TROUBLES
Eczema, Leg Ulcers, Baby's Rash

Painful and disgusting skin complaints, even of many years duration, need not be endured. "F-99" has proven so outstandingly successful, no person presently suffering from these distressing complaints should neglect undergoing treatment. Even delicate babies' skin, raw from chafing and similar causes, is instantly soothed and protected by "F-99".

Discovered in Switzerland after years of extensive research, "F-99" has since played such an important part in the treatment of eczema and other skin complaints, a specially processed concentrate is being shipped to all parts of the world.

"F-99" is the only product that contains the two vital substances for the skin—Linoleic and Linolenic Acids, commonly referred to as "Unsaturated Fatty Acids."

Your skin, like many other parts of the body, depends upon certain nutrients derived from the food we eat. When the system is incapable of extracting these all-important nutrients, illness inevitably results. In the case of an "Unsaturated Fatty Acid" deficiency, the normal functions of the skin are hindered and ugly sores develop.

To offset this deficiency, "F-99" contains the "Unsaturated Fatty Acids" in Capsulated form for internal use and, additionally, in Ointment and Lotion form for external application. Treatment with "F-99", therefore, affords both internal and external absorption.

We in Canada are fortunate in having a fully equipped Laboratory exclusively for the production of the "F-99" products—no supplies are available through all Drug Stores from Victoria, B.C., to St. John's, Newfoundland. Consult your Druggist today about the "F-99" Products and get a free illustrated Booklet, or write to: SPRINGWOOD PRODUCTS LIMITED, Sarnia, Ont.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Wish you knew my friend Peter. Fine chap, Peter. Conscientious. Resigned to his responsibilities. Helps old ladies across the street. Doesn't like the price of butter, but doesn't complain about it. Pays his parking tickets.

You know the type. All round good man. Even tempered. Hardly ever beats his wife.

Reason I wish you knew my friend Peter, you'd understand better what happened to him on Saturday.

Earlier this week Peter purchased a lamp for his wife. Cost $21, plus tax. Advertised as "complete." Peter paid for it, and it was delivered.

Peter opened the parcel and assembled the lamp. Found it had a standard and a shade. Put them together. Plugged it in. Found it wouldn't light. Found the reason was, no lamp bulb.

Peter's wife said: "Oh, Peter, they have forgotten to give you a lamp bulb."

Peter said, "dear, dear, I hate to bother them, but I guess I must go back and remind them a lamp doesn't light very well without a lamp bulb."

So, on Saturday he went back to the store. Found the salesgirl from whom he had purchased the lamp. Pointed out, diffidently, the lamp wouldn't light because it had no lamp bulb.

"I'll be glad to help you, sir," the salesgirl said. "Lamp bulbs for that lamp are 85 cents, sir."

Peter pointed out, most politely, he had already paid $21 for the lamp, complete. So Peter couldn't see why he should pay 85 cents for the lamp bulb.

And the salesgirl said, yes, he paid $21 for the lamp, complete, but this didn't include the lamp bulb.

Not wishing to cause the poor girl any further embarrassment—as she was obviously delighted—Peter asked to speak to the department manager.

In speaking to the department manager, Peter pointed out he had paid out $21 for a lamp, complete.

And the department manager said, yes, indeed, we appreciate your business, and we have received your $21, and you have received a lamp, complete.

If you only knew my friend Peter, you would appreciate what happened next. Peter said, with extreme patience, he had not received the lamp, complete. Because, peter said, it wouldn't light.

"That's because there is no lamp bulb in the lamp," the department manager explained. "Lamp bulbs for this lamp are 85 cents each," he added.

Suddenly, Peter's past flashed in front of his eyes. He remembered the parking tickets he paid, the old ladies he had helped across the street, the price of butter, and the fact he had hardly ever beaten his wife.

Something seemed to snap inside Peter's brain. And he found himself telling the department manager, with considerable eloquence, what he thought of a store which sold a $21 lamp, complete, without the lamp bulb.

By the time Peter had reached the end of his first well-chosen thousand words, an interested knot of shoppers had gathered to listen in, applauding the more purple passages of his diatribe.

The department manager, knowing when he was licked, decided to concede.

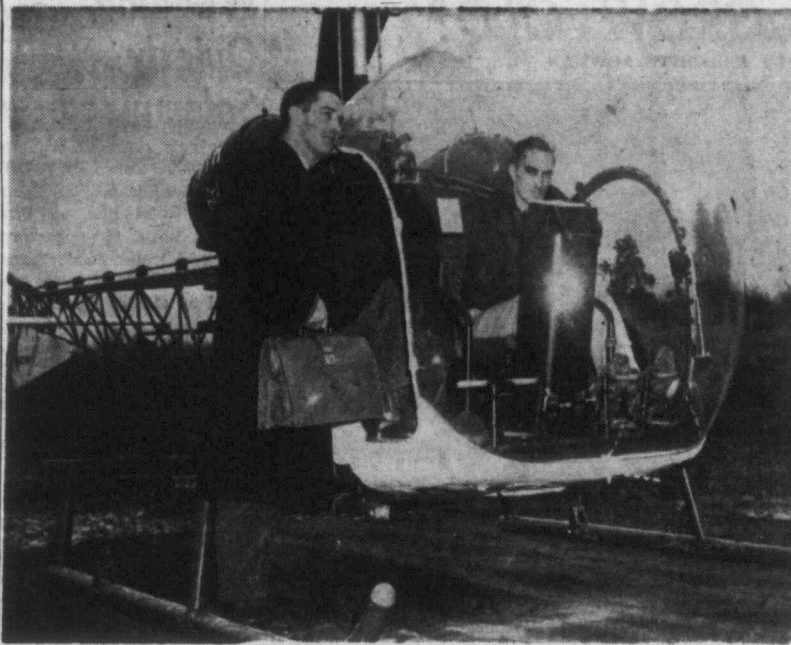

"Very well, sir," he said. "Nobody can say this store does not provide satisfaction. We will GIVE you a lamp bulb for your lamp, with our compliments."

"What?" Peter yelled. "You think I can't afford a lousy 85 cents for a lousy lamp bulb?"

With which he plunked down the 85 cents, and stomped out of the store, clutching the lamp bulb to his bosom.

But don't think Peter didn't gain a moral victory.

The department manager was so upset, he forgot to charge sales tax on the 85 cents.

CANDIDATE USES 'COPTER TO VISIT VOTERS, INSPECT TROUBLE SPOTS

Saanich Council candidate, J. Ronald Grant, instead of taking to radio waves like most candidates, Saturday took to air by helicopter for his campaigning.

He's pictured, briefcase in hand, about to take off with pilot Ted Henson of Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd. (Times Photos.)

Controversial Saanich municipal gravel pit received close aerial attention from candidate Grant. He was amazed at the size of the Sayward Road pit and felt whole area should be fenced. Fact that gravel was taken from the pit without records being kept shows need for administration overhaul, he said.

NOW'S TIME TO ACT

Far-Sighted Plan Sought in Saanich

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A candidate in the Saanich municipal elections made history Saturday by using a helicopter to carry out electioneering in the sprawling municipality.

It marked the first time in British Columbia—and probably in Canada—the unique campaigning system has been used.

Lawyer J. Ronald Grant, a director of Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd., used a company aircraft to solicit votes and to study from the air problems facing the mushrooming municipality.

Mr. Grant is campaigning on a platform of wise, long-term planning for Saanich.

The candidate took off from Patricia Bay airport in a whirlybird piloted by Ted Henson, circled the entire municipality and once landed in a field to meet and discuss municipal problems with voters.

(The flying candidate is not to be confused with Mr. Ronald Grant, naturopath, who is seeking re-election.)

NEEDS OVERHAUL

Lawyer Grant is firmly convinced the municipal administration is inefficient and requires a major overhaul.

Handling of the municipal gravel pit on Sayward road, from which gravel was taken without records being kept, helped Mr. Grant come to his conclusion.

The airborne candidate surveyed the pit from the 'copter and concluded Saanich never will be able to estimate the amount of gravel taken, or to what use it has been put.

He found it hard to believe Saanich hadn't kept complete records of gravel removal when he saw the size of the pit.

"This is no small hole," he remarked. "It's a crater."

CONFUSION

The lawyer was able to get a bird's-eye view of the road system in Saanich which he described as a "potlatch of confusion."

"If roads are developed in this manner for another 10 years," he said, "this peninsula will be one of the most difficult areas in which to find your way about. It shows a lack of planning."

The helicopter then flew to McKenzie avenue, which the Saanich Town Planning Commission has recommended be developed as a crossroad, connecting with the Island Highway in the west and Marine drive in the east. Council has turned down the proposal.

Mr. Grant was impressed with the commission's recommendation.

"It is quite evident when you see this proposed route from the air how important it is for the municipality," he said. "It would benefit the entire population of Gordon Head and Ten Mile Point, as well as people living in the north."

DRAINAGE NEEDED

Before taking off, Mr. Grant felt that Tattersall drive was the logical route to be developed, but after viewing it from the air he concluded that this route was not practical due to geographical problems.

He now favors the McKenzie Avenue proposal.

The candidate also noted the large number of ponds and flooded fields in the municipality, noting the need for a more extensive drainage program.

The election survey ended with a stop on a field owned by Mrs. I. Howroyd, 1710 Mortimer, where Mr. Grant discussed taxes and municipal matters with a number of ratepayers.

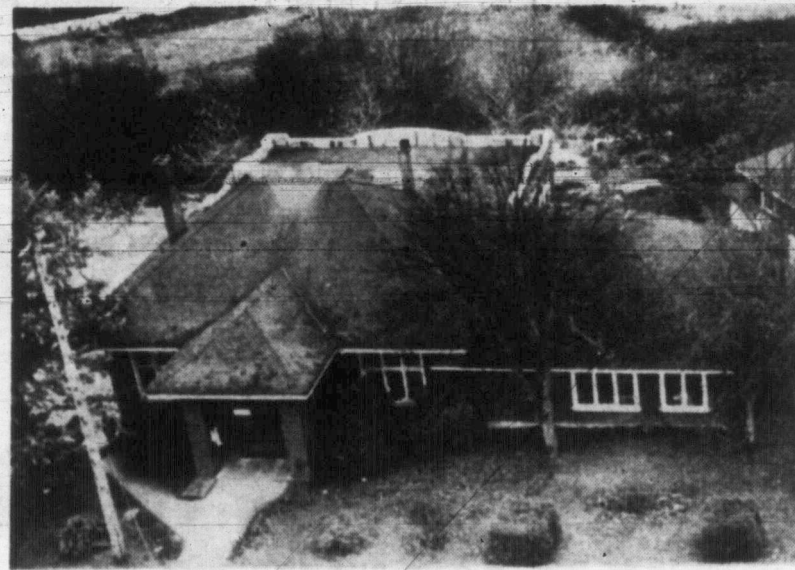

On the way back to base, the helicopter hovered over the municipal hall to permit Mr. Grant to examine the building's layout.

Mr. Grant's general conclusion after his electioneering trip was:

"The only way Victoria can expand is into Saanich. So now is the time for intelligent and far-sighted planning before we are caught in a web of confusion and rising taxes."

SEWER MEETING AT MT. TOLMIE

A meeting of Saanich Council candidates, arranged specifically to allow ratepayers to ask questions about the municipality's large sewer project deficit, will be held next Friday at the Mt. Tolmie CCF Hall, not the Douglas Street CCF Hall as reported earlier.

FLYING CANDIDATE hovered over Saanich Municipal Hall for some time, studying the lay-out. One of the election issues is whether municipality should build a new municipal hall or extend and renovate existing building. Mr. Grant also inspected municipal road network from air.

Amalgamation Survey Started by Experts

An intensive survey of Greater Victoria to determine the feasibility of amalgamation swung into action here today with a preliminary tour of the area by Dr. George Hougham, Toronto, assistant director of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, and F. H. Finnis, executive officer.

The two experts are making their tour in company with Brahm Wiesman, planning director of the capital region planning board.

They will be in Victoria until Friday of next week, preparing all kinds of data for the survey, interviewing city and municipal officials and conferring with the joint amalgamation committee of Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber, which has organized the survey.

Before starting their tour this morning, Dr. Hougham and Mr. Finnis were welcomed by Forrest L. Shaw, chairman of the committee, at a meeting at chamber headquarters.

With Mr. Shaw on the committee are Percy Scurrell and M. A. Kent of the Victoria Chamber and Don Anderson, Eric Charman and Ira Hill of the Junior Chamber.

Dr. Hougham, who was born in Vancouver and is a doctor

Two Injured In Traffic

Two persons received minor injuries in separate traffic accidents in Victoria over the week-end.

Byron L. McNailey, 850 Gladia, was treated for head lacerations and abrasions to both knees following an accident at 3.15 p.m. Sunday.

Police said McNailey was driving west on Burnside when his car went out of control and struck a power pole at the intersection.

Damage to the car was heavy.

Mrs. Lorraine Gough, 32, 20 Logan, sustained bruises when the car she was driving was involved in a three-car accident at Gorge and Garbally Saturday at about 5.35 p.m.

A car driven east on Gorge by Kenneth Mahery, 512 Constance, collided with a parked car owned by Thomas Day, 397 Vincent, and then was in collision with Mrs. Gough's auto, proceeding west on Gorge.

Gale Winds Batter Coast; More Coming

Blasts Here Hit 64 MPH As Outer Areas Get Snow

Gale winds reached speeds of 64 miles per hour at 7.30 a.m. today in a storm that battered the Pacific coast from the Queen Charlottes to northern California.

More gale-force winds are expected Tuesday.

Heavy rain mixed with snow fell between 7 and 8 and constituted a traffic hazard in Colwood and Central Saanich.

Heavy snow fell on the Malahat and chains were needed this morning to climb steep hills. The highways department sanding crews were on the job promptly.

SHIPS WARNED

All small craft in the area scurried for shelter after gale warnings were broadcast at 8 a.m. Sunday and remained idle throughout most of the morning.

Weatherman William Mackie said the wind began to gain speed at 4 a.m. today and rose steadily to an average of 42 miles by 7.30. It then dropped gradually until noon.

Gale warnings are out again for another storm expected to reach this area Tuesday morning. Speeds up to 35 miles per hour have been forecast.

Mr. Mackie predicted a few showers for tonight and rain Tuesday, with temperatures ranging between 35 and 42 degrees.

INCH OF SNOW

In Vancouver rain fell at noon today after an unexpected storm dumped an inch of snow on the city during a one-hour period this morning. The rain was expected to wash away the snow by tonight.

The brunt of the snowstorm struck the southern part of the lower mainland where up to two inches of snow was reported.

As the snowstorm moved inland, dry snow began piling up in Fraser Valley points beyond Whalley. However, both the Hope-Princeton and Fraser Canyon highways were passable.

Tug Sudbury, Tow Again Battling Gale

The Victoria tug Sudbury and her tow, the disabled Greek freighter Makedonia, is nearing Dixon Entrance in the Queen Charlottes, again battling heavy weather.

Tug and tow have been in an easterly gale for the past 24 hours, Island Tug & Barge officials said today.

Capt. Harley Blagborne, master of Sudbury, reported by radio-telephone "everything is riding fine" despite the high winds.

At 6 p.m. Sunday, Sudbury was at approximately the same latitude she was in 30 days ago, outward bound to pick up her tow southwest of Adak, at the western tip of the Aleutians.

LONGEST TOW

She has now been at sea for 35 days in what may prove to be the longest salvage tow in the history of the Pacific.

Island Tug & Barge also carried out a short tow job Sunday at the request of Air Sea Rescue Centre, Vancouver.

The U.S. fishboat Josephine I, with four adults and three children, including a 14-month-old baby, called for assistance when the engine broke down near Gossip Reef, entrance to Active Pass.

Island Despatcher went to the fishermen's aid and towed the vessel to Bellingham. Josephine I, owned by Woodrow Anderson, was eight days out of Ketchikan, bound for the Washington city, when the engine trouble developed.

Saanich Observatory to Get New Electrical Equipment

Federal government will spend an estimated $20,000 installing new electrical equipment at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich next year.

Officials at the observatory said today the project involves a complete re-wiring and replacement of electrical equipment which swings the big dome around, opens shutters, and operates the telescope.

"It is something we have needed for a long time," a spokesman said. He said the present equipment was installed 37 years ago.

"We are always having breakdowns—sometimes at the crucial moment."

ASK The TIMES

Q—Can you please tell me what comprises the British Colony of Hong Kong? E.M.L.

A—The British Colony on the southeast coast of China consists of Hong Kong Island and the ceded territory of Kowloon, and Stonecutter's Island. The new territories (1953) which consist of the rest of Kowloon peninsula and numerous islands, were leased from China in 1898 for 99 years. The area of the colony is 35.5 square miles, new territories 355 square miles.

Frostbite Winter Racing Starts With Big Turnout

A total of 24 RVYC "frostbite" skippers—10 men, five juniors and nine women—opened the winter racing season at Cadboro Bay Sunday.

It was the biggest opening day since inception of the frostbite series and a heavier entry list is expected next week when additional boats are ready for the water.

Leading skippers Sunday were: Davidsons, men, Jorgen Baes with two firsts and one third, and Peter Young, with one first and two seconds.

Davidsons, women, Leslie McNeill with one first and one second, and Ruth Murdoch, one second, one fourth.

Sabots, juniors, Chris Scott, two firsts, one second, one fourth, and Rob Denny, two firsts, one fourth.

The next frostbite series will be staged Saturday, and races will be held on alternating Sundays and Saturdays for the balance of the season.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Recruits are needed for the RCAF Ground Observer Corps in Greater Victoria, corps officials said today.

Duties are to report, plot or relay to the RCAF information of approaching hostile aircraft.

Persons interested in obtaining their Ground Observer Corps gold wings may contact Mrs. G. McIlvenny, 1317 Lyall, or phone 3-7002.

Residents of Mountain View Aged Men's Home were entertained Friday night with a concert by Victoria Shrine Band, after which members of the band distributed tobacco, candy bars and cigarettes to their audience.

Christmas T.B. seal returns to the Soroptimists Club of Victoria to date total $8,984, campaign officials reported today.

This amount is "considerably" ahead of the amount collected last year by the same time.

Nov. 10, nearly 22,000 letters, enclosing Christmas seals, were sent out to Greater Victoria residents, asking contributions to fight tuberculosis.

Persons desiring TB seals may obtain them in room 14, 749 Broughton, or by phoning 2-4422.

Victoria delegate Miss Shirley Oakley will attend the International Corps Cadet Congress of the Salvation Army in London, Eng., in July.

Canadian contingent is expected to include 63 corps cadets, five non-officer guardians and two officers, representing all divisions.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold a dinner meeting Tuesday night at McEwen's Restaurant commencing at 6.30 p.m. Guest speaker is Dr. H. J. McLeod of the B.C. Power Commission, who will present a talk entitled "The Harvest of Science."

Union meetings in Trades and Labor Congress Hall, 613 Pandora, during the week are: Tonight, carpenters; Tuesday, electricians, stereotypers; Wednesday, Trades and Labor Council; Thursday, National Federation of Fire Fighters; Thursday, teamsters, fishermen; Friday, Saanich municipal employees; Saturday, electricians; Sunday, musicians.

At Canadian Congress of Labor Hall: Tonight, machinists; Wednesday, laundry workers; Thursday, brewery workers; Sunday, International Woodworkers of America.

The Pacific Command cruiser HMCS Ontario was moved from Victoria Machinery Depot Outer Wharf plant to government graving dock, Esquimalt, today.

Ontario is undergoing annual refit, and is expected to be ready in mid-January to start her 1956 schedule of training cruises for HMCS Venture cadets.

Mayor Claude Harrison won't appear at a public election forum Tuesday, or at any other political meeting prior to the civic election, in which he is a candidate for re-election.

"I have already announced I am not going to make public speeches for the simple reason the public knows what I have done," he said today.

"They know what I have done and what I feel certain I can do in the next couple of months."

A cheque for $100 will be presented to the Greater Victoria Association for retarded children Thursday evening by David A. Clegg, president of Happy Valley Lodge No. 5, RAOB.

Ten dollars has also been received by the association from the women's auxiliary to local 109A, Street Railwaymen's Union.

Guest speaker at the meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. in the clinic room of the Health and Welfare Centre, 1947 Cook, will be Mrs. L. F. Purdy, executive director of the Vancouver Association for retarded children.

CHRISTMAS COOKING With KAREN

Karen Sorensen, Danish newspaperwoman now living in Victoria with her husband and three children, has spent many years collecting cooking recipes from all corners of the world. She has offered to share them with Victoria housewives in a daily column. Her first "blueprints for good eating" deal with Christmas foods.

All countries have their own Christmas traditions and recipes for the Holy days, but the shortbread-type of cookies seem to be the favorite everywhere in the world.

Today I will bring you a Finnish recipe of very nice Christmas cookies of this kind.

The ingredients are:

3 cups flour.

1 cup butter or other shortening.

1-1/2 cups sugar.

1 egg for brushing.

Chopped almonds and sugar for dipping.

Crumble butter with flour, add the sugar. Form the dough in long finger-thick rolls and cut them in pieces about an inch long.

Brush the cookies with beaten egg, dip them in the chopped almonds and sugar and bake them on cookie sheet in moderate oven.

I suggest in this recipe that you might use shortening other than butter. But I do very much recommend the latter in this sort of cookie.

Then you know they will keep fresh much longer.

Battery-Run Electric Train Will Make Dad Happy, Too

By PENNY SAVER

It's a standard belief, and one which is true, I think, that the father in the house gets just as much (if not more) of a kick out of an electric train than the youngsters. If the males in the family have been hitting for one of these, here's an opportunity to buy one at a very low price. This is especially good for small children who are thrilled with the idea of an electric train but who would have difficulty with a complicated and involved mechanism. This one has two cars in grey and red, with a little red light that goes on when they are in motion. The trains, run by two flashlight batteries, are attached to a plastic tube track shaped into a circle.

$2.98. As I said, the price is right.

A seasonal must and a good gift idea, too, are the lovely evening bags being shown in town. They run the gamut of shiny and sparkly finishes and beads right to the elegant black cordes. Gold and silver mesh are also charming, some with chain handles, and others in clutch style. A silver leather clutch purse caught my eye, and no doubt will appeal to you, too. This one costs $5.25. Others, in all colors and shapes, cost from $2.95 to $15.

The stretchy coil candle holders I told you about a number of months back are in town again, at the low price of 98 cents a pair. They are easily tucked in with your table centerpiece, and stand attractively alone for mantelpieces or other decorations. In bronze or black wrought iron, they'll hold any shaped candle.

For that friend of yours who takes off on small or large jaunts occasionally, here's a thoughtful "tuck-away" that will be very useful. Padded plastic cases complete with semi-transparent, pliable plastic containers are very attractive, and of a handy size. In pink or light blue there's a fold-over type that holds a toothbrush holder, plastic bottles, jars and soap dish in a soap-closed compartment. A second cover clips closed to form a compact case. There are suitcase shaped cases and flat or round ones to suit the needs and preference of the traveler. They're priced at $1.59, $2.49 and $2.79.

Changing Environment a Solution to Heart Break

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Few people go through life with a broken heart that can't be mended. While it sometimes seems as if there is nothing left to live for, things generally work out as time passes.

(Q)—"Several years ago, I met a young man in the office where I work. He comes from another town and I never thought anything about his family. I dated this young man steadily after a few months and he used to come to our home every Sunday for dinner and for any holiday he did not go to his parents' home. I fell deeply in love with him and he with me. My parents liked him very much but they were always a little concerned about the fact that his religion was different from ours.

"Last summer my friend told his parents he wanted to marry me and that is when the trouble started. They were so opposed to his marrying a girl of a different religion that they refused to meet me. Last week he came to my home and wanted to talk over the whole matter with me and my parents. He explained how his family felt—not only his parents but his brothers and sisters as well. I said their feelings wouldn't make any difference but he and my parents disagreed. He said he loved me too much to put me in the position I would be in if we married.

"While we were never actually engaged, I just understood that we would marry some day. Now I realize how hopeless it is and I am heartbroken. I know I can't forget him and I don't see how I can ever fall in love with anyone else. Does this mean I am doomed to be an old maid for the rest of my life?"—R. S. T.

(A)—You are doomed to be an old maid for the rest of your life only if you doom yourself. Of course this has been a shock to you and life looks pretty black and hopeless at the moment. But time usually cures bitter disappointments, if you will give it a chance.

No matter how good a job you have now, give it up and get another job. Seeing this young man at work every day will keep you emotionally disturbed to the point where you will be unable to get a clear perspective on your problem. Getting into a new environment where you will be with new people should help you to see that things are not as black and hopeless as they now seem.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

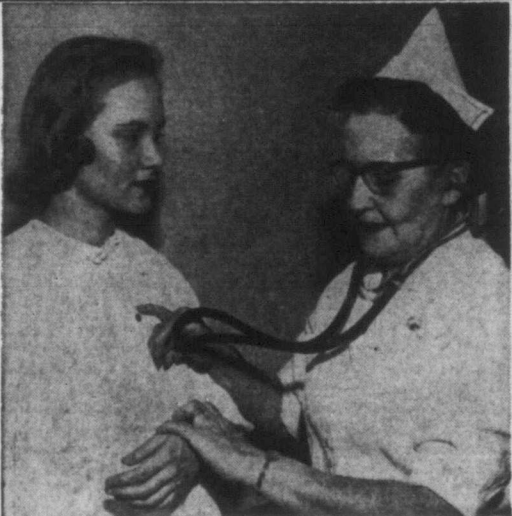

Did you know that your heart contracts about 37 million times a year? No modern miracle machine can compare to the heart for sheer magic in the ability to work, to perform under difficult conditions, to adapt swiftly to changing circumstance.

When you rest, your heart pumps only a small amount of blood as compared to the amount it sends speeding through your blood vessels at times of stress or activity. It can change this amount within a matter of seconds.

Today, millions of people have some sort of heart trouble. Heart disease kills more folks than many other deadly diseases put together. Why not give your heart a chance?

The heart is damaged and weakened by many factors. Certain types of heart disease seem to be the result of emotional stress and worry. Poisons in the system are damaging to this wonder organ.

While the incidence of heart trouble is alarming, yet there is much happy news on the heart front. Heart disease now is being discovered more often in the early stages than in the past. One reason for this is the fact that more people are conscious of the importance of having regular physical exam-

While the incidence of heart trouble is alarming, there is much happy news on the heart front. One reason for this is the fact that more people are conscious of the importance of having regular physical examinations.

inations. Also, the techniques and the treatment of heart trouble have advanced greatly during recent years.

Physicians now know more about controlling such diseases as diphtheria, rheumatic fever, syphilis and other conditions which may lead to heart trouble. They now know more about controlling these conditions. And of course, heart disease often can be controlled. Thousands of heart victims live to a ripe old age because they have adapted their daily living to the condition of their hearts.

What can we do to protect our hearts? We can live a hygienic life which includes a happy mental outlook, and just plain good sense in diet, weight, exercise, sleep, relaxation and we can have regular physical checkups.

We might also take a lesson from the heart itself. This organ could not be so efficient if it did not rest in between beats. Its rest period is almost twice as long as the time it takes it to contract. Doesn't this mean something to you?

Vows and Rings Exchanged By Sgt. and Mrs. Cresswell

In First United Church, Saturday evening, Miss Dolores Rose-Marie Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brown, 1945 Ash Street, became the bride of Sgt. John Edward Cresswell, 2/QOR, Gordon Head Camp, son of Mrs. Zoe Cresswell, 16 Essex Street, Brighton, Sussex, England. Rev. Higgins performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and chose a pale blue gown of nylon net and tulle. Her hat was of blue feathers and she wore three-quarter length nylon gloves and white satin shoes embossed with silver leaves. A pale mauve orchid topped the white Bible she carried.

Matron of honor Mrs. G. H. Baker, sister of the bride, wore a pink net over tulle gown, with a pink feathered hat and matching gloves. She carried a bouquet of carnations and chrysanthemums.

Best man was Sgt. Dennis Stahl and ushers were Sgt. Keith McCarthy and Sgt. Tim Reid.

At the sergeants' mess, Gordon Head Camp, where the reception was held, a large wedding cake centred the bride's table. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake and pink roses were used in the decoration. Sgt. Stahl proposed the toast to the bride's future happiness. Receiving guests with the bride party was the bride's mother, in a light pink-beige

Wedding Quietly Solemnized

In a quiet ceremony in Metropolitan United Church, Dr. F. E. H. James united in marriage Margaretta Patricia Black and Peter McEwen Cairns. Chrysanthemums were used in the floral arrangements, and wedding music was played by Charles Palmer.

Given in marriage by her son, Alex D. Black of North Vancouver, the bride wore a beige suit trimmed with fur, a brown velvet hat with ostrich feathers and brown accessories. She chose a brown squirrel cape and a corsage of yellow rosebuds and heather.

Mrs. J. Winder, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, in a beige and brown dress and copper accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums and carnations.

Peter Cairns, son of the groom, was best man. At the reception which followed at the Poodle Dog Cafe, toasts to the bride couple were made by Peter Cairns and R. Birks. James Martin acted as master of ceremonies.

Sir James Douglas—R. Berod, accordionist, will be special guest at the Sir James Douglas PTA meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. He will play solos and accompany a Christmas sing-song. Refreshments will be served.

Cordova Bay—"Roots of Happiness," film shown recently by Mrs. M. J. Croft to the Cordova Bay PTA, illustrated the importance of security and love of a child's parents in relation to his growth. At the meeting, president and treasurer positions were filled by G. A. Batterbury and Mrs. D. Gregg, respectively. A safety committee, W. L. Moyer, Mrs. L. H. Schmeiz and Mrs. B. Peterson, was appointed to inquire into the speed limit and placing of adequate signs and crosswalks in the community.

TO HONOR MRS. ROSS

Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, will be guest of honor at a tea and reception arranged by the Victoria Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel Wednesday at 3 p.m. Mrs. Gordon Wismer, president of the club, will preside.

Miss Joy Russell Married Saturday in First United

Wrought iron candelabra and white standards holding all white chrysanthemums formed the background in First United Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Virginia Joy Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Russell, 21 Government Street, to Mr. John Gordon Skillings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon Skillings, 3366 Cedar Hill Road. Dr. W. G. Wilson performed the ceremony. Miss Beverly Husband, accompanied by organist Mrs. Roberto Wood, sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride chose a white satin floor-length gown slightly on train, and fashioned with V-neckline, front and back, and lily point sleeves. An inset of lace and mother of pearl styled the neckline. Her close-fitting satin held a fingertip veil of net and lace, and she wore a coral necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Diane Shouse, Seattle, Wash., and Miss Sharon Malcolm, who came from UBC in Vancouver for the occasion, were bridesmaids. They wore avocado satin with matching hat and gloves. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Garry Pynn and Mrs. Robert Skillings in antique gold satin with matching hat and gloves. The dresses were floor length in princess style with V-necklines. Bouquets were of talisman roses.

Best man was Arthur Whittingham and ushers were Garry Pynn and the groom's three brothers, Douglas Skillings, Robert Skillings and Rodney Skillings.

At the reception which followed at the Golden Slipper, Mrs. Russell, in a low waisted metallic burgandy dress with black accessories and Mrs. Skillings, in a celery-colored chiffon ballerina-length dress with copper colored accessories, assisted the bridal party in receiving their guests. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A three-tier wedding cake topped with blue doves and decorated on either side with red roses, centred the main table where ornate white candles and lily of the valley completed the arrangement. Archibald Browne proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a honeymoon to be spent in the United States, the bride wore a brown knitted dress with dark brown shoes and a shrimp-colored coat. Her corsage was a gardenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Skillings will live in their new home at 3138 Westdowne Road when they return.

Others assisting with stalls and decorations were Mrs. F. Krieger, Mrs. G. Munro, Mrs. H. Bristow, Mrs. W. Wilds, Mrs. J. Stewart, Mrs. Vigner, Mrs. Blandy, Mrs. W. Collis, Mrs. Dugdale, Mrs. Grisvold, and Misses E. Mason, W. Ross, Lawrenson and Heritage.

Assisting in serving tea were Mrs. M. Fairclough, Mrs. Reichbach, Mrs. Jackson, Miss M. Johnston, Miss Higgs and Mrs. Judith Zach. Miss Mason and Mrs. T. W. Kerswell were in charge of the membership and literature table.

Approximately $450 was realized from the affair.

Bar Cookie Adds Variety to Holiday Platter

OAMEAL DATE-NUT BARS

The days 'till Christmas are numbering few. Do you still have cards to send? Gifts to wrap? Tree to trim? Cookies to bake? Then this recipe might be just the answer to your problems. A good bar cookie is easy to make and lends variety to a platter of cookies to serve at a party buffet or just to entertain a neighbor.

Filling: 1 cup pitted dates, 1 cup sugar, juice of 1 lemon, 1 cup water, ¼ cup chopped nuts.

Crumb Mixture: 2 cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 1½ cups sifted enriched flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, cuped rind of 1 orange, ¾ cup butter or margarine.

For filling, combine dates, sugar, lemon juice and water in saucepan. Boil until mixture is thick, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; add nuts and allow to cool.

For crumb mixture, combine dry ingredients and orange rind in a bowl. Add butter and cut into dry ingredients until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Pack one-half the crumb mixture in a greased 9-inch square pan. Cover with date filling. Pack the remaining crumb mixture on top of filling, pressing down firmly.

Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 40 minutes. Cut into bars while still hot.

Auxiliary Tea Provides Festive Fund for Patients

Christmas comforts for patients at Veterans' Hospital and the TB pavilions will be provided from the proceeds of a Hibly Tea, Wednesday at 2 p.m., arranged by Ladies' Auxiliary, Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans, No. 12, at the club auditorium, 1901 Wharf Street.

Aprons will be sold by Mrs. M. Hurst and Mrs. E. Falconer, and home cooking by Mrs. M. Urwin and Mrs. F. Gillason. Mrs. I. Gilhooly will be in charge of tea receipts and Mrs. G. Cooney and Mrs. S. Favell, tombolas.

will be in charge of Mrs. D. Wood, assisted by Mesdames T. Woolcock, L. Houlihan, P. Beck, M. Burgess, D. Taylor, M. Staple and G. Barry.

Mrs. V. Barry, hospital chairman, will open the tea and general convener is Mrs. M. Bennett. Tea arrangements

Women in Field of Men's Apparel Designing, Sales

NEW YORK (AP)—Men design more on his appearance than he would if he weren't nagged. They report 50 per cent of their sales of men's suits are made while the wife watches.

Others say that the wife just complicates sales, wastes clerk's time, and upsets other and unaccompanied males who may be there shopping.

Some men, who choose their own suits, are content to let the women do the shopping for shirts, underwear, socks, pajamas and the like, after establishing the fundamental rules of what the husband will stand for and what sizes and colors he demands. Merchants say 70 per cent of such items are bought by women.

A maker of men's hats has hired a woman to design its new spring line on the theory that a woman would know best how a man should look—so as not to clash with his wife's fashions.

UNPAID CONSULTANTS Many women have long been vocal about telling their men what they ought to wear. Many pick out the clothes on the theory the husband's taste can't be trusted. Others go along as unpaid but certainly not unheard consultants.

But a lot of men resent it and won't permit their wives to choose anything for them.

Merchants are as divided as many a household on the question: Is woman's place in the men's shop, or in the home?

Some merchants say the wife

NEW FRENCH ASSEMBLY ELECTION SET JAN. 2

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure and his "lame duck" cabinet have set Jan. 2 as the day France will elect a new National Assembly and the 12 political parties in the outgoing chamber immediately began preparations for the contest.

Bennett Questions Held Unanswerable

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three questions Premier Bennett posed for three federal cabinet ministers are not answerable because they are "factually incorrect."

This was the opinion of Defence Minister Ralph Campney, who tried to come up with a reply to the premier's queries.

Premier Bennett posed his questions when he charged federal ministers were "roving around the country like a bunch of people picking blueberries."

The premier's questions, and Mr. Campney's answers:

Why had the federal government given preference to the province of Quebec in its most recent federal-provincial tax proposals?

"That is what is known as a categorical question," Mr. Campney replied. "It is not factually correct and as such it is not capable of being answered."

Why should the federal government subsidize the Ontario freight rate system and not help B.C.'s Pacific Great Eastern railway?

"We don't subsidize freight rates," Mr. Campney said, "unless he means the subsidy across the Ontario bridge to give cheaper freight rates out here in the west. But we don't play favorites and we never have."

Why should the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act not apply for British Columbia farmers faced with high irrigation costs?

"The name of the act indicates what it is for," Mr. Campney replied. "It's not primarily an irrigation act at all."

Hitler's Private Life

Catastrophic damage done by Allied air raids on Germany were acknowledged by Hitler as ruin of his victory hopes.

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN—At the height of the Allied air raids on Germany, Hitler waited, night after night, at Ober Salzburg for the damage reports. He could not go to sleep until he knew the extent of the damage.

RAF. Hitler was in a dreadful temper with Goering, who tried to explain away the disaster.

Goering's excuses were brushed aside with "Lies, lies, lies. Nothing but lies."

Hitler said to me: "This is catastrophic. Now our chances of life begin to ebb."

"The people are loyal and faithful. It is only my generals who are the traitors. It is only the aristocrats who are against me."

"It is not birth that makes a Russian soldier, but what he does. My generals have forgotten how to look forward. They only come to ask me if they can retreat. No one ever asks me if he can go forward."

One period I will never forget was in December, 1944, when the bad news came from the east. Stalin had started a great Russian offensive.

Hitler's first reaction was to think of the Siegfried line. He sent me to find a document which he had prepared and sent to his general staff about the bolstering of the West Wall.

He had come to the conclusion that if the worse came to worse, he would order his army in the west to retreat to the West Wall and there hold out while he dealt with the Russians in the east.

At a special conference Hitler asked the generals, one by one, if the plans had been carried out. One by one, they reported that nothing had been done.

Hitler was stunned. But he was not silent. The general staff was blitzed as no other general staff in history on that day. He screamed at them:

"I should never have started a war with generals like you. As long as things were going well you came here to collect your medals. Now you are betraying me."

Soon he knew that the West Wall had been overcome, and although he refused to admit the possibility of defeat, he began to prepare for the defence of Berlin itself.

He issued an order to the army and the general public alike. The tenor of it was: "We must put our claws into the earth and keep every yard of it. We must fight and fight and fight."

Consumer Goods Get Green Light

BELGRADE (Reuters) — Yugoslavia in 1956 will halt 10 years of industrialization and switch to increasing the output of consumer goods.

This new economic course was decided upon at a meeting of government leaders under President Tito.

Many projected factories will not be built, plans for giving Yugoslavia an efficient rail and road system will be limited to improving existing roads and repairing vehicles.

Investment will be limited to consumer goods industries where a small outlay will bring a quick return.

Ike Urges New Union Giant To 'Protect Minority Rights'

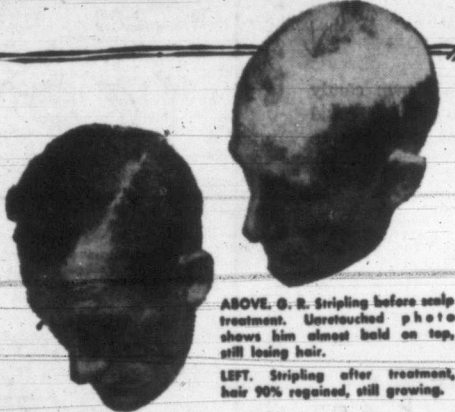

GETTYSBURG Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower told the newly-merged AFL and CIO today they have a great opportunity to exhibit "democratic processes" to all the world and "help liberate hundreds of millions" from slavery abroad.

Helps You Overcome FALSE TEETH Looseness and Worry

No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. PASTETTE, an improved alkali (non-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them firmer so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get PASTETTE today at any drug counter.

MORE HAIR

FOR OTHERS...FOR YOU

ABOVE: S. R. Stripling before scalp treatment. Untouched photo shows him almost bald on top, still losing hair.
LEFT: Stripling after treatment, hair 90% regained, still growing.

Noted Hair Expert Conducts Two-Day Free Clinic Here

IS YOUR HAIR GOING instead of growing? Worried about baldness? Thin hair? Dandruff? Itching scalp? Dry or oily hair?

Then get professional help before your "hair factories" close down completely. See the Lee scalp specialist during his clinic here.

Let this trained expert examine your scalp thoroughly—without any cost or obligation. Let him determine the cause of your hair trouble. Let him demonstrate how specialized Lee home treatment can save your hair at least, and usually grow thicker hair.

If your case is outside the scope of Lee home treatment, he will tell you so. But the chances are 10-to-1 you can be helped. Lee home treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all." It is prepared for you after a personal examination. You send in regular reports to the Lee Hair and Scalp Specialists office in Vancouver. Your progress is personally checked by a Lee expert at frequent intervals.

Lee Guarantees Satisfaction!

You must be satisfied with results by the end of 30 days, or your money will be refunded. This guarantee is firmly backed by Lee Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose main treatment office is in Vancouver, at 629 West Pender Street. Lee has affiliated offices coast-to-coast.

Two Days Only!

Eisenhower said that in the new labor body "as well as in your constituent organization you have a great opportunity of making your meetings the world's most effective exhibit of democratic processes."

"In these meetings the rights of minorities holding differing social, economical and political views must be scrupulously protected and their views accurately reflected."

PUNCH OPENED 20-YEAR RIFT

NEW YORK (UP)—The labor split which was healed today began in 1935 when John L. Lewis punched William L. Hutchison in the nose. When the AFL convention disciplined him, Lewis organized the CIO.

Political Activity Promised by Meany

NEW YORK (UP)—George Meany, 61-year-old labor leader, was elected president today of the new AFL-CIO, putting him at the helm of a merged labor movement of some 16,000,000 members.

The election of Meany was agreed upon in advance in the process of merging the two labor groups. It came at the historic inaugural convention of the AFL-CIO in the 71st Regimental Armory here.

The convention brought together under one roof for the first time in 20 years the representatives of most of organized labor in this country. On the surface, at least, there was no inkling of the bitter "craft versus industrial unionism" issue which split the CIO away from the AFL in 1935.

In his acceptance speech, Meany made it clear that the new labor group would be active on the political front. It "not only has the right but the duty to raise its voice in the way its government is operated," he said, and he added, "We don't have to be diplomatic—we can call the shots as we see them."

CIO president Walter Reuther nominated Meany. A couple of hours before, simultaneously grasping a single gavel and clasping hands, they jointly had opened the inaugural convention.

Meany's nomination was seconded by Peter Schoemann, president of the AFL Plumbers' Union, and Thomas Murray, president of the New York State Federation of Labor.

Then the 1,487 delegates formally approved him to head the new labor organization.

NEGRO CHOSEN

In rapid succession, the convention elected 27 vice-presidents—17 from the AFL and 10 from the CIO—and nominated William Schnitzler to be secretary-treasurer of the new AFL-CIO.

One of the vice-presidents, A. Philip Randolph, president of AFL Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, is the first Negro ever to hold a vice-presidency in either AFL or CIO history.

CIO president Walter Reuther will serve as a vice-president and aided by James B. Carey, former CIO secretary-treasurer, will head the industrial union department of the AFL-CIO.

The all-powerful, eight-member AFL-CIO executive committee will include Meany and Schnitzler and three members from the AFL and CIO. Reuther, Carey and David J. McDonald of the steelworkers will represent the CIO. Harry C. Bates of the bricklayers, George M. Harrison of the railway clerks and Matthew Wolf of the photo-engravers are the AFL representatives.

The post of organizing director went to John W. Livingstone, a vice-president of Reuther's CIO United Auto Workers.

SPECTATORS CHEER

At the convention opening, some 2,000 spectators in the huge hall joined the labor delegates in a long cheer, as Meany and Reuther jointly banged the gavel in a symbol of labor unity.

Meany then turned the huge walnut gavel over to Reuther, who began in the role of temporary chairman the formalities of merging the two organizations into the largest labor group in the free world.

The convention's opening was delayed 30 minutes while Meany and Reuther posed for photographers, wielding the foot-long gavel.

President Eisenhower's address to the convention by telephone this afternoon was first of a long list of speeches by prominent persons scheduled for the four-day meeting.

James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor, will speak Tuesday. Another Eisenhower administration spokesman, on Wednesday, will be Marion Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare.

New York Gov. Averell Harriman and Adlai Stevenson, one of whom may become the Democratic presidential nominee, also will woo labor's votes, Harriman Tuesday and Stevenson on Thursday.

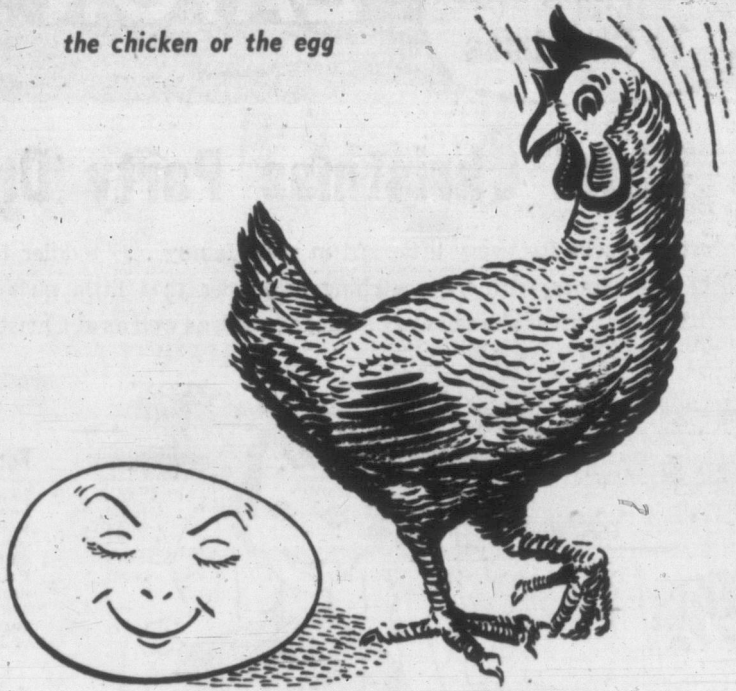

Other speakers include Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, national commander Addington Wagner of the American Legion and President Omar Bercu of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

Five Die in Crash Of Car Going 90 MPH

SHAFTER, Calif. (AP)—Five teen-agers were killed four miles west of here late Saturday when their 1955 car, traveling an estimated 90 to 95 miles an hour, rammed the back of a heavy truck-trailer. Top of the car was sheared off as it crashed under the heavy trailer. The five young people were killed instantly.

Light Your Home for Christmas

Whether for home decorations competition . . . or just for the pleasure of extending the festive spirit to passers-by . . . light up your home and garden for Christmas!

It's easy to do . . . effects are breath-taking! Come to EATON'S for a complete supply of lights, extensions and sockets.

Tear this page out and keep it handy for reference when you do your exterior lighting.

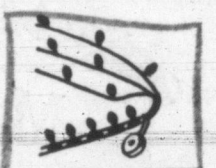

Use No. 18 wire, ft. 5¢
No. 400 sockets, each 25¢.

Outdoor Outlets
Any protected outlet (garage or porch light) may be used. Indoor sockets may be used by fishing window slightly, inserting a mouse-fitting board with a drilled hole to bring the wire outside. Lock window with stick.

Outlining
If you plan to use them in same location next year, hang the strings from permanent screw eyes or hooks. Tap wire to prevent rubbing against hooks, which should be close enough together to keep wire from hitting house.

Spacing Festoons
To make a smoother effect, make one string from three by taping them together as shown. Lights are thereby spaced six inches apart. Do this for outlining architectural lines, gables, windows and doorways.

Tepee Tree
For tall trees, not symmetrical, hang strings in straight, vertical lines. Recommended for short, too-sticky trees, too.

Contour Tree
For tall symmetrical trees, emphasize their lines by hanging lights horizontally in a series of even loops or drapes.

Spiral Tree
For a "different" treatment for fairly large trees, spiral strings downward in smooth, evenly spaced lines.

Wreath Window
Strings of lights with a star at the apex form a pleasing frame for the lighted wreath, tying the entire window decoration into one unit.

Candle Window
Drape strings from a lighted star in the centre down to the lower corners. Such a design makes a "framing" pattern for lighted candles inside the window.

ALL THIS—AND COFFEE, TOO

Young Canadian's Piano Magic Fires 'Meet Symphony' Concert

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

"Come along and have coffee," said the symphony—and the audience did, going up on stage of the Royal Theatre, several hundred strong Sunday afternoon, in many cases meeting conductor and instrumentalists face to face for the first time.

It was the second big experience of Victoria Symphony Orchestra's best attended Sunday concert; the first came when they heard an authentic Canadian genius, Glenn Gould, 23, make Beethoven live again.

The coffee and cakes party, held under the twinkling lights of a Christmas tree, gave a warmth and gaiety to the event that is new not only to Victoria, many of the concert-goers found it an experience only comparable to the best of European concert hall experience.

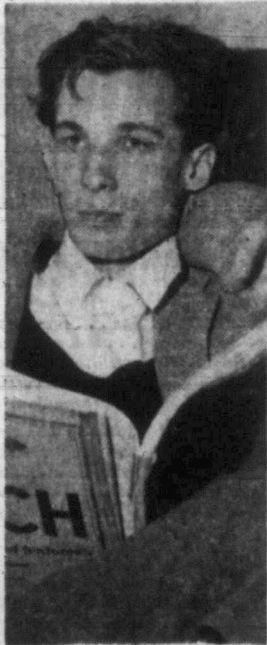

ASTOUNDING But the really momentous thing—the subject to which the delighted conversation kept returning — was the astounding performance of an undoubted genius, the guest pianist.

It is seldom that one finds an artist living up to all that has been claimed for him in advance. In his performance of the Beethoven Concerto in E flat ("Emperor"), Gould was a revelation and the performance as a whole will probably stand out as the most exciting single musical experience of the entire season.

This was Beethoven recreated, rather than interpreted—a fine distinction which many musicians miss. The whole performance was one of amazing brilliance and poignant yet disciplined emotion.

Thought and intelligence are behind every note his fine, flexible fingers utter and his participation in the performance never slackens, as it does with many pianists, when his hands leave the keyboard.

Gould has been hailed as a genius in the performance of Bach. He has recently recorded the "Goldberg" Variations for Columbia, the first Canadian to appear on that distinguished label.

GLENN GOULD
... authentic genius

The brief example of the latter he offered as an encore was enough to make any Bach enthusiast long to hear this immensely gifted pianist in a full recital of the composer's works.

On the orchestra's behalf it must be said that the performance was an exciting element in the close partnership; the long introduction, particularly, presenting a worthy prelude for what was to come.

A distinctive, vivid performance of Aaron Copland's kaleidoscopic "Apalachian Spring," with Malcolm Hamilton playing the piano part, and Brahms' "Tragic" Overture, completed the program.

At half-time, symphony conductor Hans Gruber presented a much-be-whiskered Santa, who brought the orchestra and the audience—a gift. In fairness to tonight's audience, however, no more of that.

BODY FOUND; FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

RCMP at Nanaimo suspect foul play in the death of Samuel McGregor, missing for five months, whose badly decomposed body was found near the Nanaimo golf course Sunday afternoon.

Police said McGregor's ribs had been broken, and that he apparently died from a severe blow in the chest. An inquest will be held.

Pedestrian Killed In City Crash

A 69-year-old greenhouse worker was killed instantly at about 9:30 p.m. Sunday when in collision with a car while walking in the 4200 block Douglas Street.

Dead is Chan Wah Jark, who lived at Douglas Greenhouses, where he worked.

A coroner's inquest will be held at Sands Mortuary Ltd. at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

It was the 10th traffic fatality in the Greater Victoria area this year.

Driver of the car, which was going north on Douglas, was identified as Thomas John Anderson, Saanichton, about 70.

It is reported Chan was wearing dark clothing at the time.

SAANICH police said the pedestrian's body was apparently thrown over the bonnet of a small-model car and partly through the windshield.

The body was carried about 100 feet before it fell from the auto, they said.

An eye-witness to the scene said Mr. Chan was walking north on Douglas toward oncoming traffic and turned to cross the road to the easterly side.

Indications are the man was about half-way between the centre line and the side of the road on the easterly portion of the road when struck.

Driver of the southbound car told police he saw the man crossing in front of his car and a car further ahead of his auto.

LIGHTS BLOCKED

He said he saw the two lights of the other car blocked by the man's body before the collision.

Fellow workers at the greenhouse said today Mr. Chan had gone into town earlier and was returning to the greenhouses when the accident occurred.

Mr. Chan had been employed by the greenhouses for over 20 years. He has a son, Chan Bo, in Victoria.

Of the 10 fatal accidents this year, four have occurred in Victoria, three in Saanich and three in the View Royal and Colwood areas.

Seven of the accidents have involved pedestrians, two of them children.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Chan will be announced later from Sands.

Newsprint Price Hike

MONTREAL (CP)—Consolidated Paper Corporation Ltd. today became the 11th Canadian company to increase its newsprint price when it gave notice of a $4-a-ton boost, effective Jan. 1.

The new price will be $130 a ton delivered in New York.

Thet Lawyer Grant's public spirited anyways—taken a whirl at municipal affairs.

Standin' on yer record kin be a lot less wearin' on th' voters than playin' it over an' over.

CHURCHILL HITS OUT AT KHRUSHCHEV TIRADE

WOODFORD, Eng. (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill suggested today that Britain might have second thoughts about its invitation to Russia's rulers to visit this country next April.

Speaking at a Conservative rally in his parliamentary riding—his first major political speech since he retired last April—Churchill bluntly described anti-Western tirades by Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev in India and Burma as a "surprising spectacle."

The Eden government, he said, "will no doubt study carefully before they allow it, with suitable variants, to be repeated here."

Giant U.S. Interests Behind Huge Dam Plan

Continental Can Co. Principals Propose Fraser River Project

Giant U.S. interests have approached the B.C. government with a proposal to construct the world's largest dam on the salmon-rich Fraser River.

UNION CHIEF

George Meany, 61, today was formally elected president of the merged, CIO-AFL unions and their 16,000,000 members. There was not a dissenting vote at the historic inaugural convention at New York. (See Page 29).

Moran Development Co., incorporated under B.C. laws on July 14 this year, proposed construction of a $500,000,000 hydro dam on the Fraser "about three months ago."

The company has engineers working out details of the project.

Moran Development is a private company and includes Hans Eggers of New York as a shareholder.

He heads Continental Can Corp., Container Co. Continental Can Corp., of Havana, Cuba, and Continental Can of Canada. The Continental interests are the largest firm in the world engaged in the tin plate industry.

ANNOUNCED FRIDAY

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi made the first announcement of the proposal Friday, in a speech made before a handful of University of B.C. students.

He termed the proposed dam "the largest in the world—bigger than Hoover and Grand Coulee combined."

New British Comet III To Land at Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP)—The transport department has granted permission for the British Comet III jetliner, now on a record-smashing flight around the world, to fly across Canada.

Tentative plans call for the Comet to land at Vancouver en route back to Britain from Australia and also at Montreal.

Britain's new contender for commercial aviation honors made the 11,440-mile flight from Hatfield, England, to Sydney in just 24 hours, 23 minutes flying time.

Huge crowds broke through police barriers at Kingsford-Smith airport Sunday when the big plane put down. She left Hatfield Friday morning and stopped en route at Cairo, Bombay, Singapore and Darwin. Propeller-driven British airliners normally make the flight in three days.

Earlier models of the Comet were taken out of service after several disastrous crashes. Group Capt. John Cunningham, chief test pilot for the de Havilland Co. and skipper of the plane, said the new plane's initial shortcomings "have been completely overcome."

Snowfall Hinders Search

An intensive search was under way in the Shawnigan Lake-Leechtown area today for two Victoria men lost during a hunting trip Sunday.

Heavy snow was hampering the searchers.

Missing since a party of five hunters split up Sunday morning are Frank Browne, 25, 1882 Feltham, and Craig Massey, 23.

RANGERS JOIN HUNT

RCMP, South Vancouver Island Rangers and other members of the party hunting with Browne and Massey, were combing the area at press time in an attempt to find some trace of the two men.

Mrs. Browne, a daughter of Donald Keirs of the provincial game department, was awaiting word of the search at her father's home.

The missing hunters were to meet three other members of their party at 2 p.m. Sunday, but failed to turn up.

Robert Lyons, 2626 Rose; Bill Reid, 242 Beachwood, and Charlie Keirs, 1498 Myrtle, waited until darkness for the pair before notifying RCMP and returning to Victoria.

Massey's father, Reid, Lyons and Pete Bridge left Victoria at 6 a.m. today to aid in the search.

NIGHT IN WOODS

A third Victoria man lost in the same area overnight walked out of the bush near Shawnigan Lake this morning.

Hugh Graham, 37, 2548 Graham, was reported in "good" condition after his ordeal.

Mr. Graham, foreman on a George Wheaton Ltd. national defence construction job, went into the woods near Leechtown Sunday morning, accompanied by George Sproule and brothers Wes and Douglas Gullie.

He had been the object of a search since his three companions last reported seeing him about 4 p.m. Sunday.

TWO OTHERS SAFE

Two other Victoria hunters were forced to spend a night in the woods when overtaken by darkness as they hunted in the Sooke area Saturday.

Robert Wright, 2541 Garden, and Robert Evans, 2568 Thompson, were hunting in the Sooke area Saturday and darkness closed in before they could get back to their car.

They remained in the woods overnight and made their way back out, with aid of a compass, Sunday morning about 10:30 a.m.

Mother Saves Tots

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg widow, clad only in her underwear, carried her three children from their blazing home out into the sub-zero cold today. Mrs. Patricia Hall, about 40, was taken to hospital with severe burns. Her children are also in hospital.

Times Fund to Brighten Christmas For Children in Faraway Lands

Christmas Day is less than three weeks away and all across Canada that morning there will be happy shouts as children tear open their gifts. But on the other side of the world—in Korea, India and Greece—there will be no laughter.

To children in these countries, Christmas is just another day of struggle to keep alive. Earthquake victims in Greece will still be shivering in tents; villagers in India will die because there are no doctors; children in Korea will sit on floors in drafty classrooms, eagerly trying to learn, even without a pencil or a piece of paper.

The Victoria Daily Times is appealing to the citizens of Victoria and area to add at least one extra name to their Christmas shopping list this year. Whether it be a little girl in Greece who faces starvation this winter, or a little boy in India who earns two cents a day, or a Korean war widow with no means of supporting her children... your donation will make this a Christmas to remember.

Please do not delay—send your donation today to The Victoria Daily Times office uptown or downtown (Broad Street). Official receipts will be forwarded, deductible for income tax purposes. Please include your name and address.

HER FIRST DOLL

This little Korean girl will never forget that moment when she was given her first doll; thousands of little girls like her have never had a toy in their lives.

Death Sentence Review Challenged

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Quebec government today challenged the right of the Supreme Court of Canada to hear an unprecedented review of the death sentence against Wilbert Coffin, 44-year-old convicted murderer.

"This hearing is tantamount to undue intervention in the administration of justice," Noel Dorion of the Quebec government attorney-general's department told the seven-man court.

$6 Million for Butter Price Support

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner estimated today that the federal government's butter price support program will cost $3,000,000 this year. He calculated the cumulative cost of the support program, which went into effect in 1949, at more than $6,000,000.

Changes in U.K. Government

LONDON (CP)—Big changes are brewing in Britain's Conservative government, three newspapers report.

In a revival of press speculation the Sunday Times and News Chronicle refer pointedly to R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, with The News Chronicle discussing the possibility that Butler might quit the treasury to become deputy prime minister.

Malenkov Now First Deputy Premier

LONDON (UP)—Georgi Malenkov has been promoted to First Deputy Premier, Radio Moscow disclosed today.

Malenkov had been demoted from Premier to plain Deputy Premier when the combination of Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev superseded him on Feb. 8 this year. Elevation to first deputy is considered to be a big step on the Kremlin staircase of power.

Dead is Chan Wah Jark, who lived at Douglas Greenhouses, where he worked.

A coroner's inquest will be held at Sands Mortuary Ltd. at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

It was the 10th traffic fatality in the Greater Victoria area this year.

Driver of the car, which was going north on Douglas, was identified as Thomas John Anderson, Saanichton, about 70.

It is reported Chan was wearing dark clothing at the time.

BODY THROWN

Saanich police said the pedestrian's body was apparently thrown over the hood of a small-model car and partly through the windshield.

The body was carried about 100 feet before it fell from the auto, they said.

An eye-witness to the scene said Mr. Chan was walking north on Douglas toward oncoming traffic and turned to cross the road to the easterly side.

Indications are the man was about half-way between the centre line and the side of the road on the easterly portion of the road when struck.

Driver of the southbound car told police he saw the man crossing in front of his car and a car further ahead of his auto.

He said he saw the two lights of the other car blocked by the man's body before the collision.

Fellow workers at the greenhouse said today Mr. Chan had gone into town earlier and was returning to the greenhouses when the accident occurred.

Mr. Chan had been employed by the greenhouses for over 20 years. He has a son, Chan Bo, in Victoria.

Of the 10 fatal accidents this year, four have occurred in Victoria, three in Saanich and three in the View Royal and Colwood areas.

Seven of the accidents have involved pedestrians, two of them children.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Chan will be announced later from Sands.

Eden to New TalkBritish Premier
To Visit Ottawa

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden and Foreign Secretary Macmillan will travel to the United States and Canada at the end of January for talks with government leaders in Washington and Ottawa, it was announced today.

A White House announcement said the British leaders will arrive in Washington Jan. 30 at the invitation of President Eisenhower. They will spend "a few days" there.

Eden told the Commons today he and Macmillan then will go to Ottawa for discussions with Canadian leaders.

"I should like also to inform the House that at the invitation of the Prime Minister of Canada, the foreign secretary and I will visit Ottawa at the end of our visit to Washington," Eden said.

Clement Attlee, Labor party leader, said:

"I am sure the House will welcome this announcement. I am sure I express the view of all of us when I say that we are so glad the president of the United States is so improved that he will be able to receive distinguished visitors from overseas."

RESUMING SOME DUTIES

President Eisenhower now is at his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., continuing his convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack while progressively taking up more of the burdens of his office.

The talks will presumably deal with Western strategy in the light of the recent failure of the Geneva Big Four for-

Giant U.S. Interests
Behind Huge Dam PlanContinental Can Co. Principals
Propose Fraser River Project

Giant U.S. interests have approached the B.C. government with a proposal to construct the world's largest dam on the salmon-rich Fraser River.

Moran Development Co., incorporated under B.C. laws on July 14 this year, proposed construction of a $300,000,000 hydro dam on the Fraser "about three months ago."

The company has engineers working out details of the project.

Moran Development is a private company and includes Hans Eggers of New York as a shareholder.

He heads Continental Can Corp., Container Co., Continental Can Corp., of Havana, Cuba, and Continental Can of Canada. The Continental interests are the largest firm in the world engaged in the tin plate industry.

ANNOUNCED FRIDAY
Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi made the first announcement of the proposal Friday, in a speech made before a handful of University of B.C. students.

He termed the proposed dam "the largest in the world—bigger than Hoover and Grand Coulee combined."

Vancouver newspapers heard of the speech, and asked Mr. Gagliardi to make a statement.

Newsprint Price Hike

MONTREAL (CP)—Consolidated Paper Corporation Ltd. today became the 11th Canadian company to increase its newsprint price when it gave notice of a $4-a-ton boost, effective Jan. 1.

The new price will be $130 a ton delivered in New York.

Men Missing Since
Sunday at Shawnigan

An intensive search was under way in the Shawnigan Lake-Leechtown area today for two Victoria men lost during a hunting trip Sunday.

Heavy snow was hampering the searchers.

Missing since a party of five hunters split up Sunday morning are Frank Browne, 25, 1882 Feitham, and Craig Massey, 23.

RANGERS JOIN HUNT
RCMP, South Vancouver Island Rangers and other members of the party hunting with Browne and Massey, were combing the area at press time in an attempt to find some trace of the two men.

Mrs. Browne, a daughter of Donald Keirs of the provincial game department, was awaiting word of the search at her father's home.

The missing hunters were to meet three other members of their party at 2 p.m. Sunday, but failed to turn up.

Robert Lyons, 2626 Rose; Bill Reid, 242 Beechwood, and Charles Keira, 1498 Myrtle, waited until darkness for the pair before notifying RCMP and returning to Victoria.

Massey's father, Reid, Lyons and Pete Bridge left Victoria at 6 a.m. today to aid in the search.

A third Victoria man lost in the same area overnight walked out of the bush near Shawnigan Lake this morning.

Hugh Graham, 37, 2548 Graham, was reported in good condition after his ordeal.

Mr. Graham, foreman on a George Wheaton Ltd. national defence construction job, went into the woods near Leechtown Sunday morning, accompanied by George Sproule and brothers Wes and Douglas Gullie.

He had been the object of a search since his three companions last reported seeing him about 4 p.m. Sunday.

TWO OTHERS SAFE
Two other Victoria hunters were forced to spend a night in the woods when overtaken by darkness as they hunted in the Sooke area Saturday.

Robert Wright, 2541 Garden, and Robert Evans, 2568 Thompson, were hunting in the Sooke area Saturday and darkness closed in before they could get back to their car.

They remained in the woods overnight and made their way back out, with aid of a compass, Sunday morning about 10:30 a.m.

New British Comet III
To Land at Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP)—The transport department has granted permission for the British Comet III jetliner, now on a record-smashing flight around the world, to fly across Canada.

Tentative plans call for the Comet to land at Vancouver en route back to Britain from Australia and also at Montreal.

Britain's new contender for commercial aviation honors made the 11,440-mile flight from Hatfield, England, to Sydney in just 24 hours, 23 minutes flying time.

Huge crowds broke through police barriers at Kingford-Smith airport Sunday when the big plane put down. She left Hatfield Friday morning and stopped en route at Cairo, Bombay, Singapore and Darwin. Propeller-driven British airliners normally make the flight in three days.

Earlier models of the Comet were taken out of service after several disastrous crashes.

Group Capt. John Cunningham, chief test pilot for the de Havilland Co. and skipper of the plane, said the new plane's initial shortcomings "have been completely overcome."

BREAD FOR THE HUNGRY

Times Fund to Brighten Christmas
For Children in Faraway Lands

Christmas Day is less than three weeks away and all across Canada that morning there will be happy shouts as children tear open their gifts. But on the other side of the world—in Korea, India and Greece—there will be no laughter.

To children in these countries, Christmas is just another day of struggle to keep alive. Earthquake victims in Greece will still be shivering in tents; villagers in India will die because there are no doctors; children in Korea will sit on floors in drafty classrooms, eagerly trying to learn, even without a pencil or a piece of paper.

The Victoria Daily Times is appealing to the citizens of Victoria and area to add at least one extra name to their Christmas shopping list this year.

Whether it be a little girl in Greece who faces starvation this winter, or a little boy in India who earns two cents a day, or a Korean war widow with no means of supporting her children... your donation will make this a Christmas to remember.

Please do not delay—send your donation today to The Victoria Daily Times office uptown or downtown (Broad Street).

HER FIRST DOLL

This little Korean girl will never forget that moment when she was given her first doll; thousands of little girls like her have never had a toy in their lives.

Official receipts will be for tax purposes. Please include name, address, and amount.
